James A. Logan Jr., Will Represent United States in Reparation Parley

By Associated Press

Paris—A conference of experts representing the allied and associated powers opened here Monday with three weeks before it, the object being to prepare the ground for a meeting of the finance ministers which probably will be called toward the end of the next month to consider distribution of the reparations from Germany expected under the Dawes program.

The American claims for about $300,000,000 in addition to $240,000,000 due for the costs of the American Army of Occupation during its stay in the Rhineland, probably will not be actively discussed until the preliminary session of the finance ministers although they may be presented to the experts for preliminary consideration.

James A. Logan Jr., American observer with the reparation commission, will represent the United States both at the present gathering of experts and in the ministers' conference and will be assisted by a staff of American experts.

COOLIDGE ATTENDS
WALLACE FUNERAL

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—All engagements of President Coolidge for Monday were cancelled because of the death of Secretary Wallace. After the funeral services for the secretary Monday morning in the White House, the body will be taken late Monday to Des Moines, Ia.

Among the engagements cancelled by the president was a breakfast appointment with representatives of the advertising business, in addition to the usual list of conferences with various visitors on subjects including both business and politics.

Mr. Coolidge decided not to leave with the body of Mr. Wallace, and designated Secretary Work of the Interior department to act as his personal representative at the last rites.

BLAZE THREATENS TOWNS

Tract Swept by Flames Comprises 27,000 Acres of Cut Over Lands

Laona—Fire warden W. P. Lewson, stationed here, reported Monday that 600 men are fighting nine fires in the timber belt in the eastern part of Forest-co, that six of the fires are under control and that 27,000 acres of cut-over and timber land have been swept by the fires which began in the brush and dry leaves Saturday. The ward also reported that mild west wind was blowing at noon and that he expected the three fires not under control, one of which is threatening the logging camp of the Plummer Lumber Co., could be checked before nightfall.

The tract of timber in which the fire is now burning belongs to the Menominee Bay Shore, Flanner and the Connor Cos.

Officials of the companies could not be reached by W. D. Connor, Jr., town chairman here, stated that millions of dollars worth of timber is threatened.

According to reports received by Mr. Connor, the logging camp of the Plummer Lumber Co. is in danger. No fatalities were reported, however.

Mr. Connor said that at 9 o'clock the early morning blow had subsided and he expressed the belief that the fire in the tall timber could be confined to a few acres.

Madison—Appeals for cooperation in fighting forest fires which are reported to be raging in northeast Wisconsin were sent Monday by the state conservation commission to all town chairmen, fire wardens and the Northeast Wisconsin Loggers association. Instructions were given to fire wardens to use every means to get the fires under control. Reports to the commission said the fires were prevalent particularly in Forest-co but that no fatalities had as yet occurred. The commission also has issued general appeal to all citizens in the section to assist in the fight. C. L. Harrington, superintendent of forests said, although the fire season ordinarily is over by Nov. 1, officials said that because of continued dry weather, danger would continue until Nov. 15.

Crandon—Forest fires which for a time threatened small villages and towns of huro and kept a force of more than 200 fire fighters busy for the past three days, was still out of control Monday morning. The fires have not reached green timber but have damaged thousands of dollars worth of cut-over lands.

In the immediate vicinity of Crandon only a few small fires are burning and the city was in no danger.

Telephone Rate Hearing Deferred

Resumption of the hearing on application for increase in rates by Wisconsin Telephone company scheduled for Tuesday at Madison has been postponed until later, according to information received by the chamber of commerce from the Wisconsin railroad commission at Madison.

This hearing was begun in Appleton on Oct. 14, when considerable testimony was taken but was adjourned until Oct. 28 because considerable needed data were not available. It is believed that all of the material is not yet ready and postponement therefore was decided.

The chamber of commerce will be informed of any new date that is set.

Tientsin—One hundred American marines were landed from the American cruiser Huron at Taku Monday morning and left immediately for Peking.

Rumors of developments at the capital are circulating everywhere, but reliable news cannot be obtained.

Mukden—The independence of the three eastern provinces will shortly be annulled, Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, is quoted as declaring in an interview.

Chang Tso-Lin recommended (the deposition of Wu Pei Fu, military commander for the deposed president, Tsoo Kuan, and pledged himself to support the candidature for the presidency of the former Anfu premier, Tuan Chih-Jui.

Chang Tso-Lin proclaimed the independence of the three eastern provinces from the central government in Peking in May 1922 following his defeat by the forces of Wu Pei-Fu in the vicinity of the capital.

Burglars Break Into Five Places But Get Only $10

Police Believe Sunday's Raids Are the Work of Amateurs

Five buildings were broken into by burglars Sunday night, but the loot taken from safes, filling cabinets and tills amounted to hardly more than $10. The places visited during the night were the Standard Oil company at 222 Hancock st., the office of the Woolz Brothers wholesale paper house, 737 Pacific st., the sales room of the Potts-Wood company, 855 Law-st., and the office of the Appleton Marble and Granite Works, 801 W. 1st.

It was the second time in several weeks that the Standard Oil company office was entered by burglars. At the first call police were inclined to view the matter as a practical joke. Nothing had been removed, but a sign was left warning against opening the safe. The cracks had been stuffed with oil and soaped shut.

The safe appeared to be the work of amateurs. At the Standard Oil company office they broke a window and the locks on doors. The combination tumbler of the safe also was broken off. But when the safe was opened on Monday, nothing was missing.

The Woolz Brothers office was entered through a window. The burglars removed the screen, lowered themselves through the basement window and went upstairs where they broke the handle off a filing cabinet. They found a small amount of money. There were also a few bank checks, but they were not taken. They did not touch the safe.

At the Potts-Wood company the burglars raised a window on the west side and cut through a panel of a door leading to the salesroom. They took about $9.50 from a table drawer.

DE VALERA JAILED IN BELFAST AFTER ARREST

Menken Objects to Visit of Former Hungarian President Charging She Is Red Propagandist

Mr. Menken said that according to reports which he received in Budapest last summer, the countess "is regarded as the most valuable ally of the Bolsheviks in general Europe, because of her charming personality, her beauty and her ability as an actress to present in varying tones her cause and to make appeal to fashionable audiences." I was further informed," Mr. Menken said, "that when Bela Kun was taken from jail it was the countess who was his escort on that occasion."

Mr. Menken said the countess was known in Hungary as "Red Catherine." He declared that according to the Italian police her object in coming to this country was "the establishment of a communist group." When informed of the charges made by Mr. Menken the countess said:

"That is some of Admiral Horthy's propaganda, which is spread all over Europe and no doubt has been broadcast in this country in advance of my visit."

The countess, who is still in her twenties, is the descendant of one of the oldest aristocratic families of Europe.

Her husband's estates in Hungary valued at $30,000,000 were seized by the Horthy government.

SOVIET LETTER
HITS M'DONALD
IN ELECTIONS

Britain Believes Alleged Communication Was Bogus, Ministers Say

London—Unless or until Premier MacDonald tells the country more than it knows at present about what one paper calls "the bolt from the blue" every day is being kept guessing as to why the alleged letter from Zinovieff urging a revolt by British Communists and the London government's protest against the communication came to be published on the eve of the election. The Soviet government brands the letter as a forgery, according to Moscow advices.

The opponents of the Labor government are indignant that the letter was not published earlier as they declare it was in the government's possession before parliament was dissolved.

Another part of the mystery is whether Mr. MacDonald himself is convinced of the authenticity of the letter. Some of his friends are represented as saying that he is not so convinced.

The suggestion is that foreign office officials following the routine in such matters, acted without Mr. MacDonald's definite authorization. Everybody is mystified over the attitude of the cabinet members. At least eight of them spoke publicly in regard to it during the week end and all alluded in some way to the uncertainty of the document's genuineness, some going so far as to say frankly that they believed it bogus.

The anti government press declares that the incident has killed the chances of the Laborites being returned to power Wednesday.

Cardiff, Wales—Prime Minister MacDonald, speaking before a political meeting here Monday declared that he honestly believed to be genuine the alleged letter from M. Zinovieff to the British Communists, on which was based in part the protest submitted by the British Foreign office on Friday to the Soviet representative in London.

The premier said he had received the Zinovieff letter from the foreign office Oct. 16, and had returned it with the comment that greater care should be taken to discover whether it was authentic but that, if it were authentic, it should be published immediately.

He had received the draft of the foreign office protest which later was submitted to the Russian charge d'affaires, Christian Rakovsky, on Oct. 23, had altered it and then returned it to the foreign office, expecting that it would be returned to him with proofs of the authenticity of the Zinovieff document. That night, however, the protest to M. Rakovsky was published.

The foreign office, the prime minister continued, honestly believed the document to be authentic and the foreign office officials acted on that belief. They knew he would not tolerate that propaganda.

At the Potts-Wood company the burglars raised a window on the west side and cut through a panel of a door leading to the salesroom. They took about $9.50 from a table drawer.

Safes doors were left open at the Appleton Marble and Granite works, but the safes had been left unlocked. No money was taken at either of these places.

Navy Day Is Occasion Of
"Open Ship"

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The Navy "kept open ship" Monday—Navy day—and the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt.

In every harbor and at every naval establishment the public was invited to inspect the workings of the arm of sea defense. In addition at various stations patriotic ceremonies were held, high naval officers delivered addresses. Naval air planes flew over much of the country and every effort was put forth to give the people a more intimate knowledge of the spirit and purposes of this branch of the service.

The death of Secretary Wallace caused a curtailment of plans for celebration of the day in Washington and elaborate ceremonies gave way to simple commemorative exercises at monuments of Naval heroes.

Wreaths were placed at the status of Paul Jones and others of the early American admirals.

Monday Secretary Wilbur will deliver an address on the navy by radio.

DAVIS PLANS TO DISCUSS LABOR

Democratic Candidate Works on Preparation of Final Address

New York—Entering the final lap of his presidential race, John W. Davis, Democratic nominee, worked Monday at his home in Locust Valley preparing his windup address scheduled for Saturday night at Carnegie hall.

He contemplates making a general restatement of campaign issues at this meeting and is drafting his speech for that occasion with painstaking care. At no time since he prepared the speech of acceptance delivered at Clarksburg, W. Va., has the candidate given himself over so completely to the task of speech writing.

His work Monday was interrupted only by the engagement which was to take him Monday night from his home to Jersey City for an address there. Mr. Davis has been requested to speak regarding his attitude on labor and contrast the record of the Democratic and Republican legislative bodies on labor matters. A reference to Senator LaFollette's offers to labor also has been suggested for inclusion Monday night in the Jersey City remarks.

HERRIOT SEES NEED FOR GERMAN TRADE

Lyon, France—France's need for the restoration and extension of trade relations with Germany and Russia was voiced by Premier Herriot in a speech here Sunday night before a banquet of foreign trade councilors. The time had come, he said, to create a new international trade current, in which France should have her proper place.

Negotiations for a commercial treaty with Germany had begun, and within a few days, if there were no untoward incident, the French would see the roads to the east reopened to them, he said.

He urged that better use be made of the colonies, so that France would be able to obtain raw material from her own territory. "For," he added, "if we always count on foreign supplies, notably from the United States, we are in grave danger of seeing our cotton and silk industries exposed to disappointments."

RIO GRANDE COMMISSION AWAITS ACTION OF TEXAS

Colorado Springs, Colo.—The Rio Grande River commission will await the official action of Texas in becoming a party to the proposed compact governing the division of waters of the upper Rio Grande for irrigation purposes before pursuing its task further. This was decided here Sunday when the commission, with Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and representatives from New Mexico and Colorado in attendance met here in conference.

MILWAUKEE CONVENTION ATTRACTS MANY MEDICS

Milwaukee—Physicians from many parts of the United States attending the annual convention of the Interstate Post Graduate Assembly of America here, showed an inclination for strenuous work Monday when they stated the opening session at 7 o'clock and expected to continue the session until late in the evening. The convention will continue five days.

Twenty three addresses are on the program today nearly all of them of a technical nature.

Caldwell and a representative of the adjutant general's department will represent the Wisconsin National Guards at the funeral of Major General W. C. Haan, retired commander of the Thirty Second division, Adjutant General Ralph Emmel announced Monday.

Governor Blaine will issue a statement on General Haan also. All national guard flags throughout the state will be flown at half mast until after the funeral.

Washington, D. C.—Major General Wm. G. Haan, retired, who commanded the 82nd Division in France, died at Mount Alto Veterans hospital here Sunday after an illness of several months.

General Haan was born in Indiana. He served in the war with Spain and in the Philippines. He was awarded the distinguished service medal for his meritorious conduct in the Argonne.

A fracture of his hip was the immediate cause of General Haan's death. He had been under treatment recently in several government hospitals, coming to Mount Alto about two weeks ago. Mrs. Haan was at his bedside at the time of his death.

During Sunday afternoon, General Haan had been able to receive visitors, including Director Hines of the Veterans Bureau and other close friends. In addition to the widow, two brothers living in Indiana survive.

Born in 1863, he graduated at the United States Military academy in 1889. He was raised to the rank of Major general in 1921 and retired a year later. In addition to his services in the World war, he was a member of the general staff of the army from 1914 to 1916 and also from 1913 to 1914. He was in command of the 2nd division of Eastern New York when the United States entered the World war.

WHEELER READY TO END WESTERN TRIP

Springfield, Ill.—Senator Wheeler, Independent, who recently arrived here Monday in the early morning hours to meet his final engagement in his western campaign tour, a formal address Monday night was scheduled in advance for him, with such appearances during the day as might meet local committee arrangements.

His itinerary will take him from Springfield late Monday night and into Michigan by Tuesday noon. Lansing and Flint in that state are cities for which his evening engagements have been calculated, while arrangements for collection of audiences at several points during his daily travels have been made.

He will enter Ohio Thursday and go on to New York for the weekend.

FLOURING MILL IS SOLD FOR $49,000 AT SHERIFF'S SALE

Supreme Court Decision on Deficiency Judgment Now Is Awaited

Attorney F. S. Bradford, Mrs. Catherine K. Willy and Mrs. Louise S. Galpin became the possessors of the Appleton flour mill, formerly the Willy flour mill, last week when Mr. Bradford submitted a bid of $49,000 for the property in behalf of the mortgagees.

The mill, which is the property of the oldest industry in Appleton, was disposed of by Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke at a sheriff's sale following a foreclosure instituted by the three persons mentioned against Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nichols and the Appleton Cereal mills.

The plaintiffs held mortgages on the property to the amount of $50,000, and sued for the amount plus the interest due on it. Meanwhile the two parties are awaiting the Supreme court decision on a deficiency judgment in court here which did not hold A. L. Nichols personally liable for the mortgage indebtedness but which was carried to the Supreme court by Mr. Bradford.

SEEK PARDON FOR OFFICER'S SLAYER

Kenosha—Local officials Monday were advised that a man, who will be asked for Earl Loveday, serving a life term in the state prison at Waupun for the murder of Police Officer Tony Pingatore here on March 31, 1919. Pingatore was killed by Loveday, according to the latter's confession, when he sought to prevent an escape after Loveday, Carl O. Carlson and August Blank had dynamited the vault of the American Brass Co., securing securities and cash to the value of more than $80,000. It is announced that the local officials will make every possible effort to prevent the release of Loveday.

TEN DAYS ON STONE PILE FOR MAN WHO MIXES GAS AND RUM

John Hanegraaf, Kimberly, Gets Sentence for Driving While Drunk

Five motorists were arrested by Wilbur Bogan, county motorcycle officer, Sunday for divers violations of the traffic laws. John Hanegraaf of Kimberly, who has been fined a few days ago for passing an arterial highway, was apprehended this time on the count of driving while under the influence of liquor, and locked up in the city jail until his arraignment in municipal court Monday. Judge A. M. Spencer sent him to the county workhouse for ten days.

Clifford Casson was burning up the concrete on highway 15 at a 60 mile an hour clip when Officer Bogan overtook him. In view of the excessive speed, Judge Spencer doubled the fine and collected $20 and costs.

The following paid a fine of $10 and costs for speeding: George Hammen, Little Chute, for driving 45 miles an hour on highway 15. Arthur Gelke, Appleton, for speeding 35 miles an hour in Appleton. Mrs. Frank Nobaski, Green Bay, for driving 45 miles an hour on the Little Chute road.

State Department of Legion Prepares for Its Annual Campaign

Officers from American legion posts in the Ninth Congressional district met at Green Bay on Sunday to prepare for the membership campaign which is to open Nov. 11. H. L. Plummer, Cadott, director of membership for the state, discussed the campaign. He said Nov. 11, the opening day of the campaign, will be known as "legion pay day."

L. Hugo Keller, state commander, addressed the meeting, and H. V. Higley, Marinette, district committee man, presided. James McGillan of Green Bay, national committeeman, also spoke.

Besides Mr. Keller, those from Appleton who attended were A. C. Bosser, Charles Sparling, Harvey Priebe and H. J. Pettigrew.

THREE MORE FIRES IN DUMPING GROUNDS

The city public dumping ground at the foot of Walnut-st has become a lumbering volcano that occasionally breaks out into flames and endangers the neighboring buildings. Firemen have been called many times this fall to extinguish smudges and protect the surrounding property. On Friday they again answered two calls, and on Sunday the firemen made three trips to the dumping ground. The first was at 1 o'clock in the morning, the second at 11:15 in the forenoon and the third at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The last time the roof of the street department buildings became ignited. In spite of all the water that has soaked into the refuse, underneath those big deposits the fire is still smouldering.

TEAMS HOLD CANVASS OF TRINITY CHURCH MEMBERS

A canvas of members of Trinity English Lutheran church was made Sunday afternoon by ten teams of men whose purpose it was to arouse greater spiritual interest among members of the congregation as well as to secure pledges for current expenses of the church. The fund pledged also will cover the benevolent objects of the United Lutheran church including home missions, foreign missions, inner missions, hospital welfare, old folks' homes, orphanages and student work.

A commissioning service was held at the church in the morning, preparatory to the afternoon canvas and twenty men took part in the undertaking. The Rev. R. L. Schreckenberg was chairman of the work.

THE PRESIDENCY

President Coolidge in his Washington address reviewed at length his position on governmental policies. Two main facts characterize it. It is thoroughly American in tone and presents a constructive program. The president says, referring to the large reductions in the national debt and in the expenses of government, that still further reductions are possible, with a lowering of taxes. He commits himself to the protective tariff in principle, but not to its excesses. His attitude toward the tariff may be somewhat ambiguous and may even incline to ultra-protection. This may be temperamental or it may be political diplomacy, somewhat after the fashion of his foreign policy. But one can overlook differences of this nature, as well as his yielding to reactionary influences in international relations, because of the president's many sturdy qualities and because of the many other things to commend his administration. He has given the country a business conduct of affairs second to none, to added prosperity and the substantial relief of taxpayers.

Mr. Mellon's services in behalf of the government have equaled those of any corporation head in the country in behalf of stockholders. Matters of finance are at the bottom of all successful government, and their management during the last four years stands out in striking contrast to the waste and spoils of former administrations. These policies and Mr. Mellon's great ability have been worth billions of dollars to the American people. No successful corporation would cast such services aside for fantastic ideas and promises. It would know when to let well enough alone.

Mr. Coolidge is genuinely interested in agriculture and in the problems of the farm. We do not believe any member of the independent party, including Mr. La Follette himself, has deeper or more genuine concern for rural prosperity. Mr. Coolidge has had this sympathy bred in him by his close contact with the farm all his life. He has not acquired it, as have most office-seekers, for political capital. It is significant that we find Senator Capper, leader of the "blue" in congress, supporting Mr. Coolidge for reelection. It is certain there is no better friend of the farmer in the United States than this product of New England soil.

So far as economic life in the United States is affected, he stands for its well-being and its improvement. We think he will do more for it than any of the other candidates. The president is, we believe, entirely above control by Wall street. We do not think the money power can lay its hands on him through any channel. It may be able to work in certain ramifications of the Republican party, but they will not reach to the president.

This newspaper is not enamored of the Republican tariff policy, nor of the undoubted influence that special interests and big business have wielded in Republican councils for their aggrandizement. It is disappointed in the foreign policies of the Republican administration, and does not believe the government has measured up to its responsibility and duty in international cooperation. It does believe, however, that both Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hughes, who is a highly satisfactory secretary of state and one of our ablest statesmen, would go much further than they have gone did party politics permit. We think we would today be very near to membership in the League of Nations had Mr. Hughes had his say at together or had he had free rein to advise the president. Nevertheless, we are constantly making progress.

Mr. Coolidge is opposed to both cardinal planks of the independent platform. Surely the sober sense of the country must agree with him. We may some day come to government ownership of railroads, but no one with any understanding of politics and the tremendous toll it takes of everything it lays its hands on in government, would wish this policy on the nation under present conditions. It would be the most costly experiment the American people ever made. It would without any doubt demoralize transportation and build up a political machine that would require for its maintenance and inefficiency either a heavy increase in freight rates or the operation of the railroads at an enormous deficit.

On the other proposition, that of making congress the supreme power and abandoning the guarantees of the constitution, the president is eminently sound. The more Mr. La Follette's proposal to wipe out the authority of the supreme court to declare laws unconstitutional is considered, the more its fallacy and danger are penetrating to the popular mind. We do not see how a single Catholic in the United States could vote for such a proposition provided he places any value on religious liberty. Nor do we see how any other person who prizes his privileges under the bill of rights and his opportunities and security as a citizen, unalterably fixed by the constitution, would think for an instant of sweeping them aside and subjecting everything that makes him a free American to the whims and prejudices and clamor of an uncertain and unreliable body like congress.

Calvin Coolidge is not a statesman of the first order. There are larger intellects in public service than his, but he is essentially a man of the people. He has courage and conviction and a good deal of the horse sense and human instinct that made Lincoln pre-eminent. He is level-headed and takes more good advice than he does bad. He is a God-fearing christian and has no motives other than to give the best there is in him to the service of his country. He does not play cheap politics and in no sense is he demagogic. He is sane and reliable. He represents the best there is remaining of old-fashioned Americanism today, in tradition, principal and aspiration. He makes up in a large degree for the shortcomings and abuses of the party he is for the time leading. We think the people bank more on the president than they do on the congress. That being the case, their common sense will tell them they ought to elect Mr. Coolidge and take their chances with congress, which they will have to do in any event.

It is conceded that the Democratic candidate has no chance of election and we think this is clearly indicated. Mr. La Follette cannot possibly hope to be elected. There is only one alternative to the election of Mr. Coolidge, and that is an electoral deadlock. This should be avoided. It could only result in widespread business uncertainty and economic disturbance, and no good would result from it regardless of what the final outcome might be. It is idle to assume that Mr. La Follette or Mr. Davis can offer the people anything better than they now have. Mr. Coolidge can do so, and we know from experience that he will. Our conclusion is that from every standpoint he ought to be elected president, and our belief is that he will be by a large plurality. We are confident the American people have not lost their common sense or their capacities of discrimination.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

A BEDTIME STORY.

"Each night, like as not, a wee little tot shouts 'Daddy, please tell me a story.' You've found it that way, at the end of the day when the sandman steals near in his glory."

"Supposin', some night ye were turned out the light, ye'd turn to the youngster and say, 'Now listen here, son, out of stories I've run, let's pretend it's your turn today.'"

"I'll lay you a bet that a thrill you would get, just a thrill that no father would miss. For the average tot gets away on the dot and his story runs something like this:

"Little Miss Muffet, she sat on a tuffet and didn't know where to find 'em. He stuck in his thumb and pulled out a plum, waggin' their tails behind 'em."

"Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been? How does your garden grow? Old Mother Hubbard, she went to the cupboard, and pretty maids all in a row."

"And that is the way, at the end of the day, a little tot answers the call. The story twill bring, though it means not a thing, is the best bedtime story of all."

Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician And Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

HONEST, NOW, HOW ARE YOU?

This hurts me more than it does you, but I've got to refer again to the common notion of health as compared with the genuine article. The common notion is that a fellow has good health if he feels in no immediate need of medical care or a bottle of tonic. The average "well" man would get a mark of about 70 on a health test; if he were perfectly sound and well his mark would be a hundred—an ideal of which very few attain. The man or woman who can get a mark of 90 on a real health test is entitled to the oxidized copper toothpick.

Most of us are just 70 per cent, but we don't know it. We are prone to ignore or overlook our deficiencies and allow ourselves generously an estimate of about 84 per cent. Few of us have the health we imagine we have. Very few of us have enough health to enjoy. If there were more in the 90 per cent class or above, life would be more enjoyable, just being alive, and we would require much less artificial amusement. We would get into less trouble seeking new thrills, new stimuli, and all that sort of thing. With no faintest desire to preach or preach I believe just this slight deficiency of health I am speaking of accounts for a considerable part of the sin and crime in the world. 'Snough on that theme. Back to our subject. Now, honest, just how are you anyway?

The United States war department adopted some standard physical tests prepared by the National Amateur Athletic union last year, to apply to members of the citizen's military training camps. The tests included a hundred yard dash, running broad jump, running high jump and bar vault.

Here is the table which shows how the man is marked. You can easily figure out for yourself just how you are, by trying these tests on your own. I would suggest that the average man of 40 adopt for his standard the "Senior High School Standard," and the "excellent" degree—that is he should run the hundred yards, say, in 15 seconds for a standard of 100 per cent in that test, and so on. For a fifth of a second slower he docks himself 5 points. Simple arithmetic and no algebra necessary to find out just how you are.

But I think the tests are incomplete. They will be an excellent index of a man's strength, coordination and agility, but a test of endurance is needed, and for that purpose I would suggest a mile run, no time, just run a mile at your own rate without stopping. Any man or woman (for this test) up to the age of 50 years, who pretends to be in good health, should be able to run a mile without stopping and without becoming exhausted. But, oh boy, if all of us who imagine we're pretty well today were to start out on the mile run there'd be such a sparse attendance at the finish that we could hold a celebration of the event in a Ford roadster. And don't fool yourself about this—it may not sound hard, but the chances are 10 to 1 you wouldn't attend that celebration. You never can tell till you try. How long is it since you ran your last mile or anything approaching the distance?

Scalp Wash.

Mother says that if the scalp is washed once a week with an egg in water, dandruff falling hair and so forth will be remedied. Is this advice? Is pure olive oil good for dry and falling hair? (S. G.)

Answer—The egg shampoo is a crude substitute for soap and water. Egg has no remedial value in dandruff or dryness or falling hair. A little olive oil is all right, tho probably sesame oil is better for use on scalp and hair. Send a stamped self addressed envelope for advice about the care of the hair.

The Third district high school gave a reception for the Green Bay high school football team Saturday evening, and a like courtesy was tendered the Kaukauna high school eleven by the Ryan high school.

TEN YEARS AGO.

Monday, Oct. 26, 1914.

About 5,000 people attended the annual memorial services at St. Joseph cemetery the previous afternoon. It was the largest crowd that had ever attended those services.

About 100 skat players attended the tournament at Hortonville the previous day but the prizes were not ready for announcement. For the first time a woman, Mrs. W. A. Klein of Hortonville, participated in a tournament.

Arthur Schroeder, who cut his ankle about a week ago with a corn sickle, was taken to the hospital suffering with blood poisoning.

Mrs. Dorothy Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Pierce, suffered a broken leg when she was knocked down by players while watching the East Green Bay-Appleton high school football game the previous Saturday. Appleton won the game 18 to 6.

A small fire caused slight damage at the Nabbs fold home at 1113 Lorain-st the previous afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Oren, Richmond-st, entertained a group of friends the previous evening on their tenth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Ryan and family were moving from their summer home at Edgewater farm to their town house at 1113 Lawrence-st.

An 8-pound son was born the previous day to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rossmel.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zushko were in Green Bay the previous day.

Today's Need Is Recess In Science Realm

Vivian Shaw in Vanity Fair
Ring Lardner once said that women are the people who think that when the telephone rings there's a law against not answering it. He underestimated! In the heart of the telephone company, such a law exists for all of us—in the United States and Canada.

And this is only the beginning of the new tyranny of machinery. We are all slaves of the ring, and when it isn't the ring of the telephone it is some other diabolical ring or invention which gently came to us as a boon and a blessing, and now masters us entirely.

Look at the advertisements. The more elaborate and expensive a thing is, the more certain it is to be called "a necessity, not a luxury." And in nine cases out of 10 this is true, especially after you have bought the object. A man gets a car in which he can go 20 miles an hour, so he builds a house 10 miles from the railway station. Later he buys one capable of 40 miles an hour; then he moves to another suburb and builds his house 20 miles from the station.

And, forever after, his car is a necessity to him and he is the slave of the car and of the railroad. In the city we are held in hand by more elaborate mechanisms, the subway and elevated trains, the elevators in our apartments and office buildings and the almost mechanical functioning of the laws of traffic. A green light on a Fifth-av traffic tower has more influence today than Caesar ever had in all his glory.

Before the thing goes too far, some one ought to start a crusade against all this. Not a "back to nature" stunt but a legalized system of restraining science and invention until we catch up with what they have already accomplished. It is useless to expect science to stop itself. It has taken us up to a pretty high place and given a push, so that we are running headlong down the sea. More or less the same thing happened to the "Madarene swine."

In the words of a famous play, "a society to advertise the errors and ridicule the pretensions of science." Following this there would arise a society for the systematic destruction of arduous inventions, at present science, the parent of invention, is the greater danger.

To walk through all the streets, avenues, lanes and other public thoroughfares of London, never traversing the same one twice, would require a ten-mile walk every day for ten years.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

JOHAN BOJER AND THE SENTIMENTALISTS

A few years ago Johan Bojer, Norwegian novelist, jumped into world-wide fame with his book, "The Great Hunger." It was a best seller in England and America, and Bojer who had been writing for years and years without anyone in England or America knowing that he was on earth, suddenly found the publishers of a world camped on his doorstep begging for his work.

As so very often happens, Bojer won fame and the attention of the world with a relatively unimportant book. "The Great Hunger" is not without its merits and during the earlier chapters it has considerable vitality, the kind of realistic vitality that we have come to expect of the Norwegian in recent years. But the book does not hold out to the end. It "softens" and in the end the writer degenerates to saying what he thinks people will like to hear rather than saying what is true. That was probably the main reason why the book was so popular.

At any rate, Bojer had tried the other thing in an earlier book—telling the truth to the end and he had not gained the ear of the world. But in my opinion it was a far greater and far truer book than "The Great Hunger" which won him fame. In translation it is called "Treacherous Ground" and it is a relatively unknown work.

AGAINST POPULAR THOUGHT

The significant thing about "Treacherous Ground" is that it goes against the current of popular thought. Pity and charity and kindness and altruism are being exalted and honored and praised without stint; the heart is being given all honor by the millions and the head is being given a minor place. A scientist who tells the truth about the ruthlessness of nature is himself called ruthless and is subjected to howled abuse, while the person who shuts his mental eyes and assures his public comfortably that everything is lovely in the most lovely of all worlds is honored as a great man.

There is Charity for instance, organized or unorganized. Many a socialist has seen that often charity does more harm than good, that to give money to every beggar who asks for it is a lazy sort of self-indulgence; they have pointed out that the same thing holds for many of the organized drives and movements that public speakers weep over. But the people who point this out are not popular. They are called hard-hearted and are warned not to trust too much to reason as over against the dictates of the heart.

Johan Bojer in "Treacherous Ground" exalts reason as ever against the weak sentimentalism that makes charity a form of self-indulgence. A wealthy Norwegian, to exalt a crime and thus secure mental and spiritual comfort for himself, decides to make a large group of peasants "happy" by giving them such a little farm and establishing them in a model colony. He gets a great deal of pleasure out of the project; he likes to play god to these peasants and he puts himself on the back as a big-hearted philanthropist. The scheme always have in various ways with "the lives of several of the peasants, but the philanthropist who has not taken human nature into account but has been thinking only of his own spiritual reactions, cannot see that he is doing more harm than good.

An engineer, whom Bojer uses as the impersonation of the scientific spirit, the spirit of hard, impartial honesty, points out to the philanthropist that his model colony of little farms is located on treacherous ground—ground that scientific tests have shown is menaced by a landslide. But the sentimentalist thinks this is all bosh and he cannot give on the pleasure of his philanthropy. So he goes on with his scheme. As the engineer has foreseen, the landslide comes, the peasants of the colony are carried to their death and the philanthropist too late discovers that charity unmix'd with horse sense is a curse rather than a blessing.

In its main aspects the book is an allegory. It is a straight-away story and the reader can draw his own conclusions. But it remains true to its theme and carries the story to its bitter but logical end.

LEAVE YOUR CAR IN SUN, RAIN OR SNOW

The Weather Cannot Hurt The New DUCO Finish

Duco Finish is different from any other finish ever put on a motor car. And it stands what no finish has ever stood before.

With Duco Finish on your car, you can leave it out in all kinds of weather. Rain, mud, snow, ice, won't hurt it a bit. Let the hot sun shine on it all day, or run the engine scalding hot. Duco will remain attractive.

After weeks of hard driving, you can rub ordinary mud spots off Duco with a dry cloth, if you like, for only sharp pebbles will scratch the finish. The lustre gets higher and finer with age.

Every car owner who has seen Duco cars finished with it. Watch us make tests to prove its durability. Talk to owners who have tested every claim we make. Let us finish your car with Duco in one-third the one-half the usual time required. It will always look new as long as you own it.

LAPHAM TEAM TO
SCORELESS TIEMilwaukeeans Outplayed in First Half but Threaten to Score in Final

Kaukauna—Milwaukee. Lapham A. C. football team, and Kaukauna American legion squad battled through an entire game here Sunday to a scoreless tie before one of the largest crowds of the year.

The Electric City played rings around the invaders in the first half, by using only a portion of the regular backfield men, with Schrader at quarter, giving Kaukauna at least 500 pounds behind the line, the coaches hoped to weaken the Milwaukee line by constant battering. The regulars went in at the beginning of the second quarter.

Fumbles were disastrous for the Kaukauna team. Three times the battling legionnaires marched the oval tugging in striking distance and three times fumbles spoiled chances. On the last return Rennie attempted a drop kick from the 20 yard line but the kick did not come close. The Laphams punted to the 42 yard line to end the first half.

The Laphams looked like a defeated bunch at the close of the first half. Kaukauna's backfield had been plunging up the invaders line for long gains and one or more touchdowns were confidently looked for. The locals made first down five times and the Laphams failed to make one first down during that first period.

The green clad warriors staged a big surprise, however, for in the second half they took the upperhand and had Kaukauna fighting desperately to prevent a touchdown. Practically all of the half was played in Kaukauna's territory and where before Milwaukee had been unable to make an inch, the team now went through for good gains.

That little march through center with Kibbe, quarter, carrying the ball, worked with good results in this period. During the first half the play was stopped short every time. It was the play with which Milwaukee won last year's game 15 to 7.

The legionnaires were completely stopped and were unable to make more than a few yards through Milwaukee's line. With the ball in Kaukauna's territory, Milwaukee opened up a passing attack and several tries for good gains were successful.

During the fourth quarter a pass to Schultz from Kibbe was good or a 20 yard gain. Schultz fumbled when he was tackled but the ball was recovered on Kaukauna's 20-yard line. On the next play Wiggins drew a 15 yard penalty for Milwaukee for holding. After the penalty Milwaukee was unable to gain but maneuvered for position in the middle of the field. A place kick from the 45 yard line came close. Schrader punted for Kaukauna but the oval sailed high and straight up and Milwaukee was given another chance from the 35 yard line. The kick bounded off to the sidelines. Engerson punted into Milwaukee's territory as the game ended.

New London—It has been the custom in the local high school for a class, before leaving, to leave something to the school for remembrance. Besides the many statutes and other remembrances, there has always been another way to leave some lasting impression, and that is to paint, in large red figures, the class numerals, high up on the chimney of the school.

Last Friday night, during the senior class party in the school, several junior boys stole up on the roof to the chimneys and in the morning a large, glaring "26" appeared alongside the other numerals. Juniors have dared anyone to take it off.

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever revealing it. This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and sets. Germs breed in it. And they with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and control it.

stantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming. Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel!

Mail the coupon for a 10-day tube free. Or, buy a full size tube at any druggist's today. See what beauty lies beneath the film on your teeth.

EXCEED ESTIMATES OF CITY EXPENSES IN 12 DEPARTMENTS

Work Undertaken During Year
Costs More Than Provided
In Tax Levy

With more than $500,000 already spent for city administration purposes, the common council is confronted with appropriations in excess of twelve department estimates. The excess disbursements from these funds on Oct. 1 aggregated approximately $15,000.

Although E. L. Williams, city clerk reported a balance of $37,038.56 in the general administration fund as of Oct. 1, this dwindled down to almost nil by the time of the last council meeting when that body ordered the clerk to give the city's L. O. U. for $10,000.

No one can tell you how much the council will spend during the last three months of the calendar year, or until the funds will be replenished with 1925 taxes, but on the basis of past months, the governing body will need about $90,000 more. General fund disbursements for the past two months have been at the rate of $50,000 a month.

The overdrafts referred to and the approximate amounts with which the city exceeded its estimation are: Mayor and aldermen, $185; street opening, $14,310; health and contagion, $51; parks, $2,000; street cleaning, $13,039; street cleaning, $1,235; street equipment, $4,158; street repair and maintenance, $4,573; bridge operation and maintenance, $665; tax rebates, $4,136; deaf instruction, $681; waterworks advance, $28,637.

MORE TAX REBATES
More money than was expected was spent in tax rebates to satisfy a large number of property owners in the Fourth ward who had protested against special assessments, such as for street cleaning.

Street cleaning this year took over $22,000, although the council had originally set aside only $9,000 for this purpose. Oil was purchased at a lower figure than a year ago, but the program was enlarged so greatly that an overdraft of $13,000 resulted from this work.

Heavy expenditures for acquiring property for the opening of the alley at the rear of the Whedon bridge and for opening of streets in the Sixth ward and elsewhere raised the expenditure for this purpose to $21,554.50, although only $7,000 had originally been appropriated.

The estimated cost of street cleaning has been exceeded by more than $4,000, with street sweepers still on duty, and the possibility of a snow storm or two requiring special work before Jan. 1.

Purchase of an automobile truck and other street equipment led to an expense of $4,000 in excess of estimates, in this department. At the present time the street committee is negotiating for the purchase of a power grader which will cost from $5,000 to $6,000.

When the city purchased the Fourth ward park last February, the cost was charged to the park fund, which helped to bring about an excess expenditure in that estimate. Engaging of a city nurse, for which the finance committee had made no allowance in the budget last year, produced a slight excess in the health department cost over estimate.

Committee sessions have been frequent this year, to which in part may be attributed the excess in the estimates for mayor and aldermen's salaries. Clerical help also received an increase in salary.

The $90,000 street repair and maintenance estimate was overshoot by $4,573.39, and the $4,000 bridge operation and maintenance fund was exceeded by $665.99. But the largest excess is in the estimate for water

Carrier Wants To Trade Jobs With Kansan

A change may take place about Nov. 15 whereby an Appleton mail carrier and his family will exchange places with a carrier and his family now living in Arkansas City, Kans. They are Robert Clark of Appleton and John R. Miller of the western city.

Both carriers have petitioned to trade jobs and the petitions were approved both by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke and the postmaster of Arkansas City. The postal department at Washington will have to act upon the petition first before the desired change can take place.

The Appleton carrier is seeking a change in climate for the benefit of his wife's health, while the western letter carrier is anxious to obtain the educational advantages that Appleton offers for his children. Mr. Clark intends to dispose of his home and other property before he leaves.

Alumni Banquet
Lawrence college alumni will have their annual banquet when they meet Nov. 7 at the state teachers convention in Milwaukee. Many teachers from the elementary schools and the high schools as well as the college instructors plan to attend the Milwaukee conference.

Disbursements during September amounted to $132,276.95, which includes $65,847.70 for junior high schools, $11,475.62 for the Cherry-st bridge, $7,000 loaned to the high school, $12,241.32 for waterworks advance, $6,327 for street repair and maintenance and other minor expenditures.

CORBETT ATTENDS C. OF C. CONCLAVE

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, returned Friday evening from Washington, D. C., where he attended the convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries.

Meetings were held in the huge new building of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Mr. Corbett spent part of the time in the various departments of the national chamber gathering information for help in his work here.

The secretaries were presented to President Calvin Coolidge while in Washington and were taken by boat up Potomac river to Mount Vernon on a sightseeing trip.

Diplomas were given for the first time to secretaries who completed the course in the association's annual national school at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill. A number of those graduating were in Mr. Corbett's classes in retailing and marketing.

Relation of the chamber of commerce to agriculture was explained in an address by William Harpen Dean, chief of the national chamber's agricultural bureau. Industrial fairs and community fund campaigns were discussed and intimate chamber of commerce problems taken up.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

STATE OF WISCONSIN, ss.
County of Outagamie,
Office of County Clerk, October 16, 1924.
TO THE ELECTORS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election precincts in the county of Outagamie, on the 4th day of November, 1924, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the question submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross (X) or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector for whom he wishes to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the space provided for therefor, the names of the person or persons for whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice president or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

(d) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.

(e) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(f) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(g) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(h) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

JOHN E. HANTSCHER, County Clerk.

SAMPLE OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote for an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote, if it be there, or write any name you wish to vote for in the proper place.

REINDEER PROTECT ESKIMO BOYS FROM BIG BEAR'S ATTACK

Antlered Bucks Yield Protection for Herders as Well as Does and Fauns

Anchorage, Alaska—Evidence of reciprocal protection between men and animals came to light recently at Cantwell, where big reindeer herds are ranging under the supervision of the United States Biological Survey and Eskimo herders.

Several Eskimo boys had been standing guard over a herd to ward off wolves and other predatory animals. The boys were sitting idly while the herd grazed when a monster brown bear, followed closely by her yearling cub, rushed out of the woods. The boys saw no refuge and to outrun the bear was impossible. Sensing the only means of escape, they headed straight for the herd, with the mother bear in close pursuit.

The reindeer, which ordinarily would have taken the running approach of the Eskimos as a signal to move forward, scented the danger. Instead of fleeing, they turned, as if by some primitive command, and the big bucks rushed forward to meet the boys and the bears. At their same instant the does called their fawns to their sides and huddled together. The Eskimos shoulder their way into the middle of the herd, watching the elemental maneuvers of bear and reindeer.

The monarchs of the herd stood with antlers pointed forward and the bear swerved, milling up and down as if looking for an opening. The bucks turned with the motions of the bear, their sharp antlers forming a barrier of bayonets.

Finally, realizing it was impossible to snatch a fawn or an Eskimo, the great bear and her cub retreated. The herd relaxed, and the Eskimo boys emerged to resume their vigil.

900 HEADPHONES ON HOSPITAL RADIO SET

A real "radio central," just like a regular telephone central, is now in operation at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington. Hundreds of patients are entertained daily with song and story over the radio.

To this "radio central" are connected nine hundred sets of headphones and five loud speakers.

Disabled war veterans find their hours of pain passing easily under the soothing influence of music from the ether.

Signals from local and distant stations are received in the control room on a five tube, Freed-Eismann neuro-dyne receiver and amplified by Western Electric apparatus, which also controls the loud speaker system.

The sets were installed by the "Roxy Radio Fund," thousands all over the country subscribing to provide music to the sufferers in hospitals in many sections, who otherwise would be deprived of this solace and inspiration.

The installation is unique. There is nothing like it elsewhere. Thousands of feet of wire are required to connect up the individual receivers with the main control. The entire room is given over to the equipment, with a duplicate Freed-Eismann set, A and B batteries and a whole string of chargers to keep the batteries in good condition.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed bids will be received at the undersigned, Village Clerk's office up to and including Oct. 28th at 8 P. M. for the construction of the following sewers:

1000 ft. 15 inch pipe from Main to Lincoln Ave. on Taylor Street, 1359 feet of 12 inch and 24 inch of 10 inch from Harrison St. east to Buchanan Street on East Main Street, average out 12 1/2 feet. Six catch basins, 7 manholes.

In accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of the Village Clerk.

Payments for the construction of said sewer shall not be made until final acceptance on or before March 1st, 1925.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. A certified check to 10% of the amount of the bid shall accompany each bid. Dated at Little Chute, Wis. this 22nd day of Oct. A. D. 1924.

M. VAN HOOF,
Village Clerk.

Flashes Out Of The Air

The new radio stations at Mooseheart, Ill., WJJD, had a lot of listeners Saturday night. The programs came in very clearly here and excellent music was offered. There are a large number of stations with approximately the same wave length as WJJD and tuning in any of these stations clearly is becoming a problem.

The United States navy band is scheduled to play a concert at WCAE, Washington, D. C., at 8:45 Monday evening. These concerts always are very much worthwhile listening to.

Two Cincinnati stations, WSAI and WHM, will be on the air with concerts beginning at 8 o'clock Monday night. Both these stations usually present very good programs.

Saturday night was wonderful for radio reception but Sunday night wasn't so good. Several radio set owners declared Monday that Sunday night was one of the poorest radio nights they experienced for some time.

NICHOLS-SHAWANO POWER LINE FINISHED BY NOV. 1

The electric power line that is being built to Shawano by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company probably will be completed by Nov. 1, according to A. K. Ellis. The line extends from Nichols to Shawano.

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN STREET CORNER CRASH

Two automobiles were damaged in a collision at Superior and Washington-sts at 3:30 Sunday afternoon. Fred Speed, living on Route 7, Appleton, was driving south on Superior-st. when his car was struck by a car owned by August Koll, 687 Atlantic-st., which was going west on Washington-st. and was turning south on Superior-st. The left rear fender and hub cap of Speed's car were broken, and the right front fender of the other vehicle was bent and the hub cap broken off.

Save Bulbs When Ground Freezes Up

It will not be long before the Badger housewives are going to gather in their gladiolus bulbs. There is always the question of just how to dig and store these treasured flower bulbs away for the winter.

"Wait till there is no more growth and up to the time that the frosts are just about hard enough to freeze the ground, then lift the bulbs," says W. Newell, campus foreman at the University of Wisconsin. Light frosts will not hurt the bulbs, for they will keep right on growing up until the real frosts come. By leaving the gladiolus in the ground, more reserve food supply is saved up in the bulbs for the next year's crop of flowers. "When the housewife wishes to lift her gladiolus, she should clip off the tops but leave about a foot of leaves and stalks." The expert gardener suggests: "The old bulb should also be left attached to the new growth of bulb. Now, pack the bulbs in old gunny sacks and tie. They are ready now to be hung in the cellar.

The best temperature for the bulbs is about 50 degrees Fahrenheit as too warm conditions makes the bulbs lose their moisture.

Along toward spring the stems and the old bulbs can be broken from the new bulbs very easily; then, soon as the time for planting comes around they are ready to be put in the ground.

Newell gives the names of several of the most popular varieties of gladiolus that are grown successfully by the housewives and florists of the state. The 1910 Rose which is of a rose color is a very pretty gladiolus. Then, there is the Mrs. Frank Pendleton which is a bright pink flower with a pure white back ground. Among the yellows are the Sulphur King and the Schwaben varieties; while the reds are represented by the War Gladiolus. Fairest White, with that pure white with soft pink throat lines suggest one of the purest whites of gladiolus family. The Blue Jay with that deep blue color is a fair representative for the family of blues.

WANT STATE REPRESENTED AT LAND O' LAKES MEETING

A record breaking attendance is expected at the annual meeting of the Land O' Lakes corporation which will take place in the Antlers hotel, Milwaukee, on Wednesday, Oct. 29. The association is winding up its first year as a statewide organization and the result of its advertising campaign is considered satisfactory. About 20,000 inquiries from all sources were received and the cost per inquiry amounts to about 56 cents.

The board of managers reports that it is doing all in its power to see that not only resorts and hotels are well represented, but that prominent men from all sections of the state will attend the convention. The program provides for the discussion of conservation of the state's beauty spots, its lakes and streams, and its fish and game.

GLENN HUNTER AND BESSIE LOVE MAKE HIT IN NEW FRANK LLOYD MASTERPIECE

Since he made "The Sea Hawk," Frank Lloyd has given photoplay fans reason to expect great things from him, and in "The Silent Watcher," a First National picture featuring Glenn Hunter and Bessie Love, which began its showing at the Elite Theater today, he offers the public an entertainment that may be well termed great. "The Silent Watcher" is not a photoplay of unusual length, extraordinary settings or elaborate wardrobe. In fact it is its simplicity of theme and picturization which makes it so doubly entertaining. There is no padding—"The Silent Watcher" follows Mary Roberts Reinhardt's Saturday Evening Post story, "The Altar on the Hill," faithfully, and in its cinema transformation it is improved a hundred percent. Mrs. Reinhardt's story was literally brilliant, but when one sees the close-ups of Joe and Mary and "The Chief" on the screen, one's appreciation of the characters mounts much higher.

Glenn Hunter, as Joe Roberts, has the faculty of winning one's sympathy with a single glance and registering his thoughts without any apparent attempt at acting. And all that goes for Hunter's superb demonstration may be repeated for Bessie Love. Miss Love's screen personality is universally known because of her numerous appearances on the silver sheet, but it is doubtful if she ever displayed her talent to better advantage.

Hobart Bosworth, who plays The Chief, too, lends dignity and understanding to his character. Alma Bennett, as Lily Elliott, proves a

E. K. LINCOLN'S NEW FILM, A THRILLER

Few, if any screen stars can boast of the number of film successes that E. K. Lincoln coming to the New Bijou Theatre today and Tuesday in

"The Woman in Chains" has to his credit.

But despite this fact his present vehicle is the largest picture he has taken part in. The story, written by Edward Owings Sowne, author of "The Madonna in Chains" is of a girl chained in love on the Isle of Martinique while the artist lever has married the gem of the Apache dancer.

High School Girls, With Eye On Future, Want To Cook As Well As Typewrite

Didn't some wise man say that a food stenographer couldn't hold water without burning it? His wisdom is in a fair way to be disproved by the girls enrolled in commercial and classical courses in Appleton high school, announces Miss Catherine Spence, head of the domestic science department. No girl is ever proud of the fact that she is unable to cook, and the girls of these departments, through their own efforts, secured a special home making course which they are able to squeeze into their already full curriculum. The new branch of the department is registered under the name of the home economics special course, and through its comprehensive and rather intensive scope, many girls, who really want it, can learn the art of homemaking during the two daily periods which are allotted to the subject.

A thorough study of foods is of course the basis of the work. Up to now the girls have accomplished a great deal in canning, pickling, jelly and conserve making. They do quite a bit of large quantity cooking to train them to feed large crowds as well as one or two.

SERVE COMPLETE MEALS

One of the most practical elements of the course is that every two or three lessons the girls serve a complete meal on the charming little drop leaf tables that take the place of a dining alcove in a full fledged kitchen. It is one thing to stew tomatoes, and quite another to serve them as a part of a well balanced meal.

In January the budget problem will be dealt with. For a month each girl will keep her personal account so that she will realize how much her family is spending on her individually. Then when she has discovered what an expense she is (and the result usually is a surprise to the student) she talks over her problem with Miss Spence, and plans a budget which will cut down waste and provide for sane expenditure. This budget varies naturally, according to each person. The awful problem of checking accounts is also simplified for the students. The matter of sending checks out of town, endorsing checks, and of check safety, is thoroughly discussed because most of the students are seniors and will be thrown on their own resources when they leave school.

Nutrition is brought up during the year, and although it cannot be dealt with as thoroughly as it can be in the fourth year home economics course, still the girls take away a knowledge of the high foods for certain ages. In the longer courses psychology of feeding children can be taught.

Each girl plans an ideal kitchen before the course is completed, paying special attention to labor saving devices, distances and sanitation. The practice of serving meals is amplified by the dinners through the year which the girls serve to the school board. Although the special course girls do not have the responsibility of these large affairs they help with the work, and learn how to serve large numbers of persons.

As training in becoming hostesses as well as cooks and waitresses, four girls serve dinner ever now and then to three guests, and Miss Spence, who checks up on the work and the skill with which the affairs "comes off."

Miss Spence says this is one of the hardest jobs the girls have during the year, because it is difficult not to be a flurried hostess when you detect something scorching in the kitchen. And it is also rather hard to excuse oneself, and keep from running to save the burning dinner!

OUTAGAMIE CHILDREN PLAY SANTA CLAUS FOR EUROPE

Outagamie-co schools will again join with other schools of the country in brightening the Christmas of needy boys and girls of the schools in Europe through the agency of the Junior Red Cross.

The Red Cross Christmas boxes appealed so much to the pupils last year that many requests for them have come to the office of A. G. Meating, county school superintendent. Boxes now are being mailed to all schools. Children will pack them with small gifts to be sent to New York, from which they will be distributed in European countries.

Dr. M. C. Monroe, dentist, Black Creek, will be at office every day in week. Hours 9-12; 1-6. Evenings 7-9:30.

OUTAGAMIE-CO HAS OVER 10,000 CARS

Registration of automobiles this year will show ownership of more than 100,000 more cars than there were in 1923, according to the latest compilations of the secretary of state's office. The department reports that registrations up to the present time total $22,000. A tabulation by counties showed that on July 1, there were 10,999 cars in Outagamie-co.

Can't Ride In Front Of Cycle Owner

(This is the eighth of a series of articles in explanation of the new traffic ordinance now in effect in the city of Appleton.)

Riding in motorcycles in front of the driver or in any way to interfere with convenient operating of the machine is prohibited under the new city traffic ordinance, just as it was under the old regulations.

An extra passenger on the motorcycle must ride either on a seat in the rear of the driver or in a side car. This legislation came about after accidents had occurred because the machine owner's view was obscured or his control disturbed by a person sitting in front of him.

Width of vehicles or the loads they carry is restricted to eight feet over all, according to another provision of the ordinance. This refers to trucks, tractors, trailers or wagons and if the space they take up is more than eight feet they are violating the law. Wagons loaded with hay or straw are an exception, however.

Annoyance from smoke or exhaust fumes is spared pedestrians by the ordinance. It reads: "No persons shall operate a motor vehicle emitting smoke capable of disturbing pedestrians or others, or emitting penetrating vapors or odors injurious to the health or comfort of the persons nearby."

Driving rules also state that no machine is to be driven along a street in any way which would obstruct traffic, meaning that no zigzag course must be pursued or other methods followed which would interfere with automobiles. It is unlawful to drive anywhere in parks except on the established roadways, unless the police designate some other space as parking place.

OUTLINE PROGRAM FOR HOMECOMING

The program for the annual homecoming of Lawrence college on Nov. 14 and 15 calls for a banquet on Saturday night, Nov. 15, for all football "E" men, and alumni football "I" men and members of the teams. On this occasion the Lawrence team plays Hamlin college.

A torchlight parade and massmeeting are scheduled for Friday night and Saturday morning all organizations will enter floats in a parade. Saturday night the alumni chapter probably will give a dance.

Marvin Kell of Beaver Dam is general chairman of the homecoming, and will be assisted by the following chairman, who will choose their own committees.

General committee, Austin Schraeder, Markasan, Lawrence Lyons, Appleton; massmeeting and parade, Virgil Hurless, Viola; publicity, Richard Nelson, Appleton; decorations, Lois Trossen, Appleton, George Christenson, Oshkosh; banquet, Roger Collinge, Hartford; tags and buttons, Wilmer Rehbein, Appleton; finance, Austin Schraeder, Markasan, Lawrence Lyons, Appleton; program, all chairmen of committees.

PLANTZ, EMME SPEAK AT GREEN BAY CHURCH SCHOOL

Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, Dr. Earl Emme, director of religious education in the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Miss Florence Haupt of Neenah, are on the program of religious education adopted by the Y. W. C. A. of Green Bay.

Professor Emme spoke Monday night on The Principles of Teaching. Dr. Plantz will speak Dec. 8 on The Religious Worker and His Reading. Miss Haupt will talk Nov. 3 on Teaching Children to Sing.

There are now about 60 enrolled in the school, including Sunday school superintendents, teachers and pastors representing 12 denominations.

FLORIDA PLANS TO CELEBRATE BIRTH OF COMMONWEALTH

Centennial Anniversary Scheduled at Tallahassee on Nov. 9 to 15

By Associated Press
Tallahassee, Fla.—This, the capital city of Florida is making preparations for a centennial celebration during the week of November 9-15, marking the hundredth anniversary of the state as a legislative unit.

The history that lies back of the plan for the celebration embodies several events that stand out prominently in the record of the United States. In 1818, General Andrew Jackson, without authority from Congress, but, according to belief that has been given expression, with tacit consent of the cabinet in Washington, invaded Florida, then Spanish territory. He marched with 2,000 men from Fort Gadsden on the Apalachicola river to St. Marks in Wakulla county raised the American flag, hanged two leading Indians and two British subjects.

In consequence of this demonstration of Spanish weakness, Spain in 1819 consented to the purchase of Florida by the United States, and by 1821 every portion of the territory was surrendered to the United States and the Spanish flag came down. Later, in 1822, a legislative council for West Florida was held in Pensacola, and the next year a legislative council for East Florida was held in St. Augustine.

This form of administration was found to present difficulties, however, and an agreement was reached that legislation should emanate from the whole of the territory, from a central point equidistant from Pensacola and St. Augustine. Thereupon, two commissioners were appointed, and early in 1824 Indian fields belonging to the Seminoles, north of St. Marks, on the highlands of the present Leon county, were purchased and the site of the capital selected. On that site the first legislative council for the territory of Florida was held in a log hut. It is this event that is to be commemorated. The celebration will have as leading features historic pageants, military and other parades in Tallahassee, while all churches and schools throughout the state are expected to join in the commemorative exercises.

HOWARD SPEAKS ON PROBLEM OF PEACE

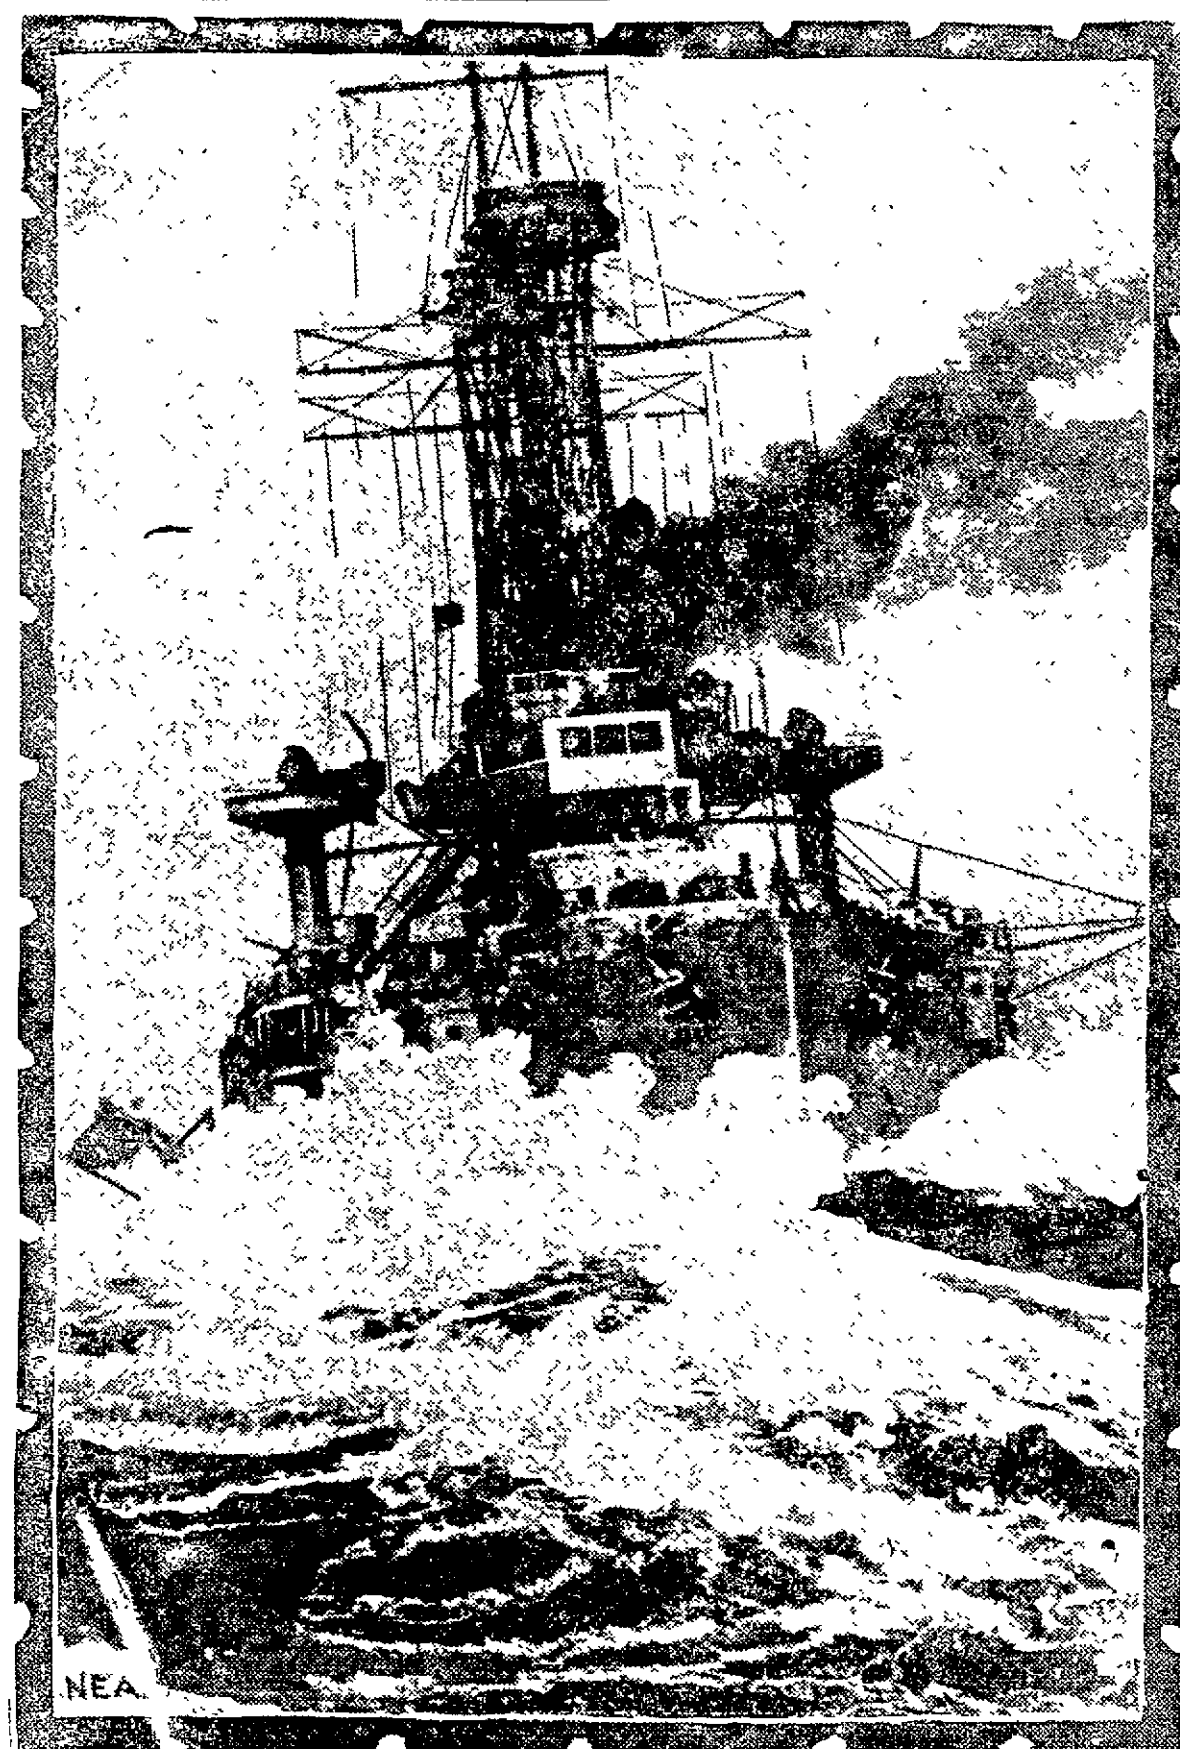

Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the World Peace commission, and one of the best known lecturers on the American platform, will give an address on World Peace and How to Obtain It in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8 o'clock Monday evening. Mr. Howard comes here under auspices of the World Peace commission and his talk is sponsored by most of the Protestant churches of the city.

Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, will preside at the meeting. Noted men in all parts of the country have praised Mr. Howard's addresses and his subjects. William Jennings Bryan once declared that Howard's talks should be heard by every person in the world and that he had never heard the peace question discussed in so eloquent and convincing a manner.

William and Herman Langenberg of Fond du Lac, visited their parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Langenberg, 43 Second-ave, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oudenhoven of Onkida and Mr. and Mrs. John Mullen of Appleton were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Versteegen, Little Chute, on Sunday.

This Is The Navy's Day

Today is observed throughout the nation as Navy Day. The picture shows a great American battleship bucking a heavy sea.

HUNDREDS GET SPLENDID VIEW FROM NEW BRIDGE

Cherry-st bridge was the center of attraction in Appleton Sunday. The excellent weather was an inducement to many residents to view the structure which is now rapidly nearing completion. Hundreds of persons crossed the bridge to the Fourth ward side. All of the concrete base for the brick pavement has been laid, and the laying of brick also has commenced. Waterproofing of the concrete still is being done but the bricklayers are following closely behind this work. It is expected that the paving will be completed in about two weeks, but other details of construction will have to be completed.

For your private parties reserve Hotel Appleton Roof Garden.

WOMEN MEET ALL DAY AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

An all day meeting of the Women's association will be held on Tuesday in First Congregational church. Sewing will begin at 10 o'clock followed by a luncheon at 12:30. A business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock, and a program will be presented at 2:30. Mrs. J. P. Zonne is in charge of the devotional service, and Mrs. W. J. Wilson will speak of the congregational work among the Negroes. Mrs. O. Thiesenhuis is chairman of the hostesses for the day.

PROTEST CHANGE IN ZONING ORDER

Residents living in the vicinity of the proposed creamery which Andrew Peterson and W. C. Wilhams wish to build on Second ave. near Richmond-st. have remonstrated to the city council against the proposed amendment of the city zoning ordinance which would permit the creamery to be built at this location.

The site is now a part of the residence district but the proposed amendment would make it of a commercial and light manufacturing district. Some of the residents who signed the petition intimated that they are not actuated with any motives against the creamery project, but fear that the amendment will pave the way for more objectionable plants in the district. They are averse to amending of the ordinance in general.

A public hearing of arguments in favor of and in opposition to the proposed amendment will be conducted by the common council in the city hall tonight.

Seek Stolen Car

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While waspy, gray, faded hair, is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. adv.

RECIPES

Beauty Was Guarded In Ancient Days

Beauty hints and recipes today are broadcast in newspapers, magazines, books, and even by radio, so that the door to beauty and charm may be unlocked by even a woman. However, a few hundred years ago beauty aids were secrets in the possession of a fortunate few, the nobility and the wealthy, and each family jealously guarded the recipes in its possession as a precious secret heritage passed on by word of mouth from mother to daughter for generations and generations.

SECRET OF ITALIANS

The Italian hue immortalized by the artist is said to have been due to a hair dye used by the Italian women, the secret of which was originally brought from the east. Italian ladies of 1400 A. D. spent long hours in the roofs of their houses, applying the ointment and drying it in the sun, the sunshine being an important part of the mysterious process. The secret of their Italian hair aroused the envy of women of other nations, and also the curiosity of a French physician, Arnaldo de Villanova, who in vain sought to learn the composition of the ointment.

One day, however, Arnaldo decided to save the life of an Italian child, and its mother in gratitude declared that he should have whatever he asked for as a reward.

"The secret of your beautiful hair, madame," quickly replied the French man, and so the story goes, she gave it to him.

This is the famous recipe: Take of dragon's blood four ounces, of Arabic gum two ounces, of pure sand one ounce, and of alum one ounce. Mix them all together well and boil the mixture. Well cover the hair with it, letting in the sun till it dries, being careful not to get sunlight on the hair. A light silk robe whose color will not be affected by the ointment. Gradually the hair will become a lovely golden color."

MODERN SIMPLICITY

Let's you think that the Italian beauties—or their cavaliers—had to go out and slay a dragon to obtain the necessary dragon's blood, we must confess that this requisite was obtained from the juices of various plants known as sweet flag, Crocus's blood tree, and others of the same family and was merely a balsam.

No such laborious, complicated process need be gone through in these days of scientific beauty aids, ready for use. Is a more golden one desired for the hair? Miss 1924 merely takes out her little bottle of henna and emerges from her shampoo with the desired Tintan tint, or goes to a luxurious beauty parlor from which she soon walks out with shining coiffure. Indeed the Italian beauty of 1400 would be truly surprised if she were to be reincarnated today and could see the far more valuable beauty recipes of 1924 available to all women, instead of being hereditary secrets.

Navy Blue Frock

Plaid wool in soft blues on a grey background offers a note of relief to this navy blue frock with its original neckline and sleeve trimmings. The wide leather belt is in a very deep blue and emphasizes the slenderness of the line.

FASHION HINTS

SMART CHOKERS
Chokers of gold or silver ball beads combined with pearls are worn by very discriminating women.

EFFECTIVE TRIMMING
Very fine machine stitching done with a gold or silver thread is one effective form of trimming.

GEORGETTE FROCKS
A white georgette frock is made very rich looking by rows of hand-run tucks and trimmings of ermine tails about the collar and belt.

COAT ANY LENGTH
The suit coat this season worn with the dress may be any length from hip to full length. Most of them are three quarters or more.

GORGEOUS FROCKS
Frocks made partly of gold and partly of silver fabric are very gorgeous indeed and not nearly so garish as they sound.

USE LEOPARD FUR
Frocks of black velvet are being trimmed with leopard fur which is a most youthful and attractive method of making them smart.

He's young yet and it isn't everybody who is as smart as my Jack and can build a house. Oh, boo hoo! I forgot! Our nice little house is gone and I'll never see it any more."

"Fiddlesticks!" said Daddy Gander. "We'll find it for you. My goodness! You'd think you had lost a diamond ring, or something you could hide behind a potato skin. A house! LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO PAULA PERIER

MY DEAR PAULA:

You will probably be surprised to get a letter from me. First, I want to tell you that I am coming out to California on another business trip and I want to know if you're going to stay in Hollywood all summer, and I should very much miss not seeing you.

Then I want to congratulate you on your latest picture, "Her Last Card." You are improving every picture you make, and I think that is the highest compliment I can pay you. In all the others that you have presented you seem to have been feeling your way, but in "Her Last Card" you have given much of yourself and your knowledge of life that has come from your tragic experiences—something that no director could have possibly brought out.

I wonder if you have reached the place along life's highway where you are able to get a good perspective on those experiences. If you have, you will know that which all of us sooner or later come to know, that all of life is good.

I've been wondering if you've found any one in Hollywood that in any way makes you forget your old friends now. I'm not going to make it any more. I am going to tell you that I hope you have made new friends that take the place of the old. In fact, I'm quite sure you have, for you seem to be growing not only in your art, but in beauty. The lines and drawn look are coming out of your face, and the moment a person begins to stop making new friends, that moment that person begins to grow old and ugly and naturally leaves behind the real joy of living.

There are so many old saws, Paula dear, that we like to think are true.

and one of them that "old friends, old shoes, and old wine are best," is especially fallacious.

It all depends, you know. Out of the ruck of old friendships, one sometimes finds one or two that satisfy as life, with its numerous changes of environment and interests, goes on. Unfortunately one's taste in friendship changes as one's taste in shoes or wine changes. If old shoes are worn over at the heel, and the insides of them do not conform to your feet, they become uncomfortable—they don't fit; and old wine often tastes more of the cork than of the fragrance of the grape.

I never wear old shoes, principally because I don't like the looks of them. They do not fit my beauty-loving soul. And old wine in these Volstead days is apt to be spurious. I know very well the people to whom I swore in my own mind unwavering fidelity in my youth would not appeal to me if I should meet them again now, after years of absence. We have gone very different ways and now look at life from very different viewpoints.

Do not misunderstand me, dear Paula. There have been both men and women whose friendship of years standing I still am very glad to hold in my heart. But I have also made new friends who mean quite as much to me. I find great joy in meeting new friends, and I hope that you have found this great thrill in life as well as I.

Chic Black Curtain Is Newest Mode

In great-grandmother was the orthodox kind of housekeeper—and housekeepers always were orthodox in her day—she took the greatest pride in the stiffness and the snowy whiteness of her window curtains. From the heavily figured English Nottingham lace ones that hung in the parlor, to the crisp starched scrim that hung in the bedrooms and kitchen. She would have scorned a limp curtain.

Today if great-grandmother came back to earth she would find that both whiteness and stiffness as applied to window curtains are qualities distinctly unfashionable, and probably she would faint to see the newest curtaining being shown in the shops, which is a stunning black Oxford cross net with orange or jade figures.

of rich, deep cream and amber are now fashionable. Until one has seen them it might seem that the smart new black nets would lend a funeral aspect to the room, but this is not the case. The Oxford cross net has such a large open mesh that it is excellently transparent and diffuses a pleasant light. The latest thing in lace curtains is the panel or artificial silk which has a most cowbeby texture and a radiant amber tone which is very rich.

Notice of Referendum Election on Proposed Constitutional Amendment

TO THE ELECTORS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That at the time of holding the regular General Election to be held in the County of Outagamie, on the 4th day of November, 1924, at which the questions submitted to a vote in the sample ballot below are to be voted upon.

OFFICIAL REFERENDUM BALLOT INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, until the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector for whom he wishes to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the space provided therefor, the name or names of the persons for whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice president or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

(d) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.

(e) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(f) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(g) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(h) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

If you desire to vote for any question, make a cross (X) or other mark in the square after the word "yes," underneath such question; If you desire to vote against any question, make a cross (X) or other mark in the square after the word "no," underneath such question.

DADDY GANDER'S DUST PAN

"It is just what became of the House That Jack Built," remarked Mister Spratt at the breakfast table.

"It certainly is," said Mrs. Spratt, helping herself to another piece of bacon.

"The queerest thing we ever heard of," said the Twins pouring more molasses over their pancakes. But Jack and Jill and Mrs. John didn't say anything. And they weren't eating much either.

Jack was thinking of all his work for nothing.

Jill was thinking of her dolls and all her play furniture and everything. And Mrs. John was thinking of her lost cookstove and her lost sewing machine, and all her fall sewing to do, too! And her bread-sponge all set for raising!

"Well, well, well! Good morning, everybody!" said a cheery voice. And there stood old Daddy Gander in the doorway, his magic dust-pan under his arm.

"Hello, Daddy," said Jack Spratt. "Come on and sit down. Have you heard the news?"

"No," said Daddy Gander. "You don't mean to say that the Old Shoe Woman had been spanking her children again, do you?"

"No worse than that," said Mrs. Spratt with her mouth full of bacon. "You don't mean that old Poppleton Bun, the miller-man, has gone to sleep and snored flour dust all over town, do you?" said Daddy Gander.

"No it's worse than that," cried Mrs. Spratt. "Our house is gone! The nice little house that my son, Jack, built up on Poppleton Hill!"

"Yes, sir," said Nancy. "It's all gone. Nothing left but the cellar. Nick and I saw it just now."

"Land o' Goshen!" cried Daddy Gander. "I never heard of such a thing. And Mother Goose away, too! She might know what to do if she were at home. You don't suppose—" "What do you suppose, sir?" said Jack Spratt.

"You don't suppose," whispered Daddy Gander, "that Peter Peter could have taken it, do you?"

"Peter Peter?" cried Mrs. Spratt. "Why should he take it?"

"Well," said Daddy Gander with a wise wag of his head, "they say that after he got married he hadn't a cent to live on and he had to put his wife into a pumpkin shell."

"Daddy Gander, you're an old gossip," said Mrs. John. "Peter Peter didn't take our house any more than

Beauty Was Guarded In Ancient Days

Beauty hints and recipes today are broadcast in newspapers, magazines, books, and even by radio, so that the door to beauty and charm many be unlocked by every woman. However, a few hundred years ago beauty aids were secrets in the possession of a fortunate few, the nobility and the wealthy, and each family jealously guarded its recipes in its possession as a precious secret heritage passed on by word of mouth from mother to daughter for generations and generations.

SECRET OF ITALIANS
The Italian hue immortalized by the artist is said to have been due to a hair dye used by the Italian women, the secret of which was originally brought from the east. Italian ladies of 1400 A. D. spent long hours on the roofs of their homes, applying the ointment and drying it in the sun, the sun-burn being an important part of the mysterious process. The secret of their Italian hair aroused the envy of women of other nations and also the curiosity of a French physician, Arnaldo de Villanova, who in vain sought to learn the composition of the ointment.

One day, however, Arnaldo chanced to save the life of an Italian child, and his mother in gratitude declared that he should have whatever he asked for as a reward.

"The secret of your beautiful hair, madame," quickly replied the Frenchman, and, so the story goes, she gave it to him.

This is the famous recipe: "Take of dragon's blood four ounces, of saffron one ounce, and of alum one ounce. Mix them all together well and boil the mixture. Well cover the hair with it, sitting in the sun till it dries, being careful not to get sunstroke and wearing a light silk robe whose color will not be affected by the ointment. Gradually the hair will become a lovely golden color."

MODERN SIMPLICITY
Lost you think that the Italian beauties—or their cavaliers—had to go out and slay a dragon to obtain the necessary dragon's blood, we must confess that this requisite was obtained from the juices of various plants known as sweet flag, dragon's blood tree, and others of the same family and was merely a balsam.

No such laborious, complicated process need be gone through in these days of scientific beauty aids, ready for use. Is a more golden tone desired for the hair? Mix 1924 merely takes out her little bottle of henna and emerges from her shampoo with the desired Tintan tint or goes to a luxurious beauty parlor from which she soon walks out with shining coiffure. Indeed the Italian beauty of 1400 would be truly surprised if she were to see the far more valuable beauty recipes of 1924 available to all women, instead of being hereditary secrets.

MUSIC, of all the liberal arts, has the greatest influence over the passions, and is that to which the legislator ought to give the greatest encouragement.
—NAPOLEON at St. Helena

PLATO says that a change in the songs of musicians can change the State of Commonwealths.
—CICERO.

WOULD'ST thou know if a people be well governed, if its manners be good or bad, examine the music it produces.
—CONFUCIUS.

Music Influences the Character of a Nation and Every One of Its People

CONFUCIUS, Cicero, Napoleon appreciated the power of music and recognized that it both moulded and reflected the character of the people.

It moulds the character of a child.

It plants harmony in his life and keeps him in tune with both the conditions and forces with which he is surrounded.

It is a companion from babyhood to old age.

It softens sorrow.

It adds the sparkle to joy.

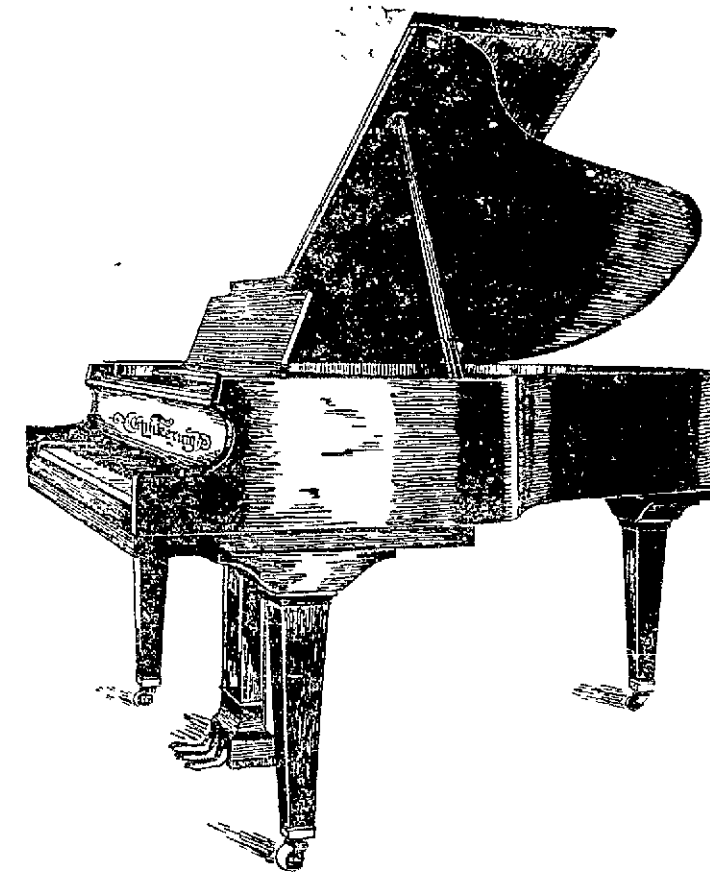

It peoples solitude.

It is God's gift to every man, woman and child, for modern invention has put it within the reach of all.

Make sure that the sunshine of music brightens your home. Buy a piano, a player-piano or a phonograph. It is a duty you owe your family and a pleasure you owe yourself. Do not delay.

In a few weeks you will be invited to our new store: Corner College Ave. and Oneida Street.

Music Men have told us that we will have the Finest Music Store in this State--After we are open for business it will be a pleasure for us to show you our House of Music.

START CONSTRUCTION OF NEW COLLEGE STADIUM

Lawrence Athletics Will Be Able To Use New Field In Spring

Fourth-wd Tract Will Provide Gridiron, Baseball Diamond, Cinder Tracks and Parking Spaces

Construction of the first portion of the new Lawrence college athletic field is progressing rapidly, according to Fred Treize who has charge of the work, and indications are that it will be possible to use the field for the first time next spring.

The entire plot contains more than 17 acres of ground, which extend along the Chicago and Northwestern right of way between the former West park plot and Maple Grove. The eastern end of the property—about 6 acres—is a ravine which eventually will be the site of a natural amphitheatre, one of the most ideal in the midwest. The portion of the field to be used for actual play will be drained, spaded and packed. Steel and concrete bleachers will act as retaining walls on each side, and will reach to the top of the ravine on each side to an average height of 50 feet. It is proposed to have the main entrance at Maple Grove, near the Chicago and Northwestern railway bridge where a large parking space will be constructed.

TWO ENTRANCES

At this point a roadway also is being graded in a westerly direction to the top of the ravine along the line of Wagon-ave. to a parking space on the table land. There also will be an entrance to the field from South River-st. along the Wagon-ave. line.

From the southwest line of the table land portion of the field at the West park addition line, to the north-east boundary of this portion of the property at the brow of the ravine, is a distance of more than 750 feet. This line will serve as the basis of a 220-yard straightaway cinder path and football field will take the same general direction. This arrangement is ideal for football because the sun will not interfere with the vision of either spectators or players. Eventually this field will serve as an additional or second practice gridiron, the main field in the stadium proper.

QUARTER-MILE TRACK

This field on the table land will be surrounded by a standard quarter mile track 20 feet wide, with ample space for bleachers on each side. The field is being drained with tile set 30 feet apart and pitched to each side. This tile will connect with main lines running parallel to the sides of the field which will drain the track.

The track is being excavated to a depth of two feet and will be built up of cinders and clay. The field will be about 85 feet above the grade of the Chicago and Northwestern railway directly to the north. It has been planned and will be graded and sodded immediately so that it will be in the best possible condition for next fall.

A baseball diamond will be laid out on the west section of the tract and it is hoped this will be ready for use in spring.

The plans for the field and stadium were prepared by Fred W. Treize of Lawrence faculty, and approved by Arthur P. Denney, athletic director. The grading is being done by the Frank Barz Construction Co., and the entire work is under the supervision of Treize.

KIMBERLY HIGH SWAMPS BERLIN

Neenah Gridders Easily Cop. 40 to 0, in Onesided Contest Saturday

Neenah — Kimberly high school football team defeated Berlin high school team Saturday by the decisive score of 40 to 0. The victory was a one-sided affair, as the Berlin team was outplayed in every phase of the game. Neenah recovered on a fumble on the kickoff, but was held. Neenah recovered the ball on downs, pulled a 40 yard pass and marched down to the goal for a touchdown in seven minutes' play.

After that the ball did not get into Neenah's hands again, as the home team had things their own way. The score at the end of the first half was 27 to 0. When it became apparent in the second half that the visitors stood no show of winning, Coach George Christoph substituted members of the second team for regular players.

Neenah plays Two Rivers at Two Rivers next Sunday.

FUMBLE PAVE WAY FOR YALE WIN FROM RIVALS

Fumbling in football usually proves as costly as the proverbial base on balls in the national pastime. A touchdown or a score is the usual result. Two fumbles by Dartmouth paved the way for two Yale touchdowns and prevented a win for the Green team.

Now that Cozy Dolan has been assigned to the junk pile, Manager McGraw of the New York Giants will need a new "Yes Man." Yes, is the favorite word in Dolan's vocabulary.

KNOX HAS TITLE HOPES AFTER WIN OVER BELOITERS

Van Liew Seeks To Improve Interference For Senn, Who Starred In Tilt

Galesburg—With high hopes of serving up the Midwest championship as a result of their 27 to 0 victory over Beloit before a homecoming crowd here Saturday, the Knox eleven Monday went into preparation for meeting Iowa Wesleyan this coming Saturday in fine form.

Van Liew was making efforts to get better interference for Senn who brought in a touchdown for Knox the first five minutes of play and concluded the homecoming show by receiving a punt ten seconds before the gun and completing the touchdown. The Beloit backs would get in on Senn Saturday before he could make gains.

Discus, who Saturday brought in a touchdown was more firmly entrenched at half and Huggins, end, who made a spectacular 40-yard run for the second touchdown was given work running down passes.

Van Liew called attention Monday to the fact that Beloit's wide pass was in many cases broken up by the good work of the line and the fast playing of Eric who nailed man after man that the others let by.

Van Liew continued the lineup of the Beloit game and seemed satisfied with their progress. Holding Beloit on the defensive throughout the game, with the exception of one short rally in the second frame, and putting over three touchdowns in the last nine minutes of play, the line showed new defensive strength and the backfields showed stamina.

"We've given to old gridders following the game. Coeds were dressed in white and the college colors and put on a demonstration at the half."

The Syracuse game was played about two weeks too soon, is one way that Frank Cavanaugh, Boston College coach, explains his team's 10 to 0 defeat by Syracuse. Boston was not ready, lacked condition.

JUST A "BUILD UP"

Fans are taking interest in the announcement that Firo and Fred Firo have been matched for a boxing bout in Madison Square Garden. They see in it merely an attempt to "build up" Firo for another big money match.

Iowa State Scores 13-0 Victory Over Minnesota

Iowa City—Playing a great football game, Iowa State triumphed over Minnesota here Saturday afternoon, 13 to 0. The Gophers lost several excellent opportunities to score and at times outplayed the Hawkeyes. Parkin and Graham's great running was the decisive factor in the win.

Minnesota received the ball on a punt after Iowa had failed to gain upon receiving the first kick off and went down the field on line plunges, by Lidberg and Schutte to Iowa's 22 yard line where a penalty, then a fumble, gave the ball to Iowa.

After an exchange of punts, it was Minnesota's ball on her own 20 yard line and again the Gophers went down the field on line plays, placing the ball on Iowa's 45 yard line just as the first period ended, with neither team having scored.

Minnesota completed a forward pass for thirty yards in second period but another pass was intercepted by Fleckenstein gave Iowa the ball on her own 30 yard line. Parkin made two gains through the line, putting the ball on Iowa's 39 yard line, and the half ended. Iowa 3, Minnesota 0.

Coach Spaulding of Minnesota sent in several substitutes in the second period, Mal Graham relieving Guzy and in turn being replaced by Foote before the half ended with out materially affecting the Gopher's attack.

In the second period Scutte fumbled Graham's punt and Iowa recovered on Minnesota's 39-yard line. Parkin made three dashes, totalling 18 yards, but in the shadow of their goal posts the Gophers held and from Minnesota's 13-yard line Hancock booted a field goal making the score Iowa 3, Minnesota 0.

Running of Parkin and Graham featured Iowa's attack in the third period. Another costly Minnesota fumble gave Iowa the ball on the Gopher's 38-yard line. In the last five yards and after Graham had made a line gain, Parkin ran 24 yards to Minnesota's two yard line, where the Gophers held.

Near the close of the third period Hancock tried unsuccessfully for a field goal from Minnesota's 35 yard line but the ball was short. Another exchange of punts followed and Parkin made two more short dashes before a punt gave the Gophers the ball on their 11-yard line. Just as the period ended Scutte made 14 yards off tackle putting the ball on the Gopher's 30 yard line.

In the fourth period Lidberg led a line plunging attack that took the ball to Iowa's 35-yard line, where Schutte fumbled and Fisher recovered for Iowa. An exchange of punts gave Iowa the ball on the Gopher's 27-yard line. After two trials had failed, Parkin slipped through right tackle and dodging the secondary defense ran 37 yards for a touchdown. Hancock kicked goal, making the count Iowa 10, Minnesota 0.

On the next kickoff Parkin returned 15 yards and on the next three plays Parkin and Graham made 44 yards. The attack finally took the ball to Minnesota's 11 yard line and Hancock booted another field goal, making the count, Iowa 13, Minnesota 0.

MANAWA BOWS TO MENASHA, 32 TO 0

Twin City Schoolers Outplay Invaders in Every Department of Game

Menasha—Menasha high school football team shut out Manawa's crack squad Saturday by a score of 32 to 0. The home players made their first touchdown in seven minutes' play and practically swept the visitors off their feet especially during the second half. The first half ended with the score 7 to 0.

The only time Manawa's goal was threatened was in the second quarter.

BADGERS SNOWED UNDER, 21 TO 0, BY WOLVERINES

Michigan's Puzzling Aerial Attack Easily Wins Over Wisconsin Squad

Rockwell pointed to Larson who was downed by Edwards on Wisconsin's 34-yard line. Doyle Harmon, on Wisconsin's forward pass fake, made 2 yards through Miller. Harris dove and rolled through the right side of Michigan's line for 6 yards. Miller broke through and stopped Doyle Harmon for a 2 yard loss. Steel was substituted for Hawkins at the beginning of the quarter.

Leo Harmon punted to Steger who brought the ball back 12 yards on Michigan's 29 yard line. Friedman took the ball for the first time and made 6 yards through Wisconsin's left end. Marion gained a yard through his own right guard.

Steger carried the ball through center within four inches of a first down. Rockwell punted to Larson who was thrown out of bounds by Edwards on Wisconsin's 16-yard line. Leo Harmon kicked short and the ball was downed by Long on Wisconsin's 48-yard line. Michigan had the ball in Wisconsin territory for the first time. Steger was caught back of the line for a 4-yard loss, the end of the first quarter.

BLOCKED PUNT IN FINAL PERIOD IS DECIDING FACTOR

Bunge, Left Tackle of Invaders, Makes Winning Play Unassisted

After playing a good game of football up to the latter part of the final period and holding LaCrosse scoreless to that time Appleton high school Saturday afternoon dropped the game, 7 to 0, when the breaks went against the Orange youngsters and a blocked punt gave the invaders the only touchdown of the game. Bunge, LaCrosse left tackle, broke through the Appleton line while Courtney was getting set to punt, grounded the ball and scooping it up, carried it across from Appleton's 25-yard line. During the first three periods the squads were about evenly matched neither being able to make worthwhile gains by straight football. The few passes attempted were incomplete, and punting was the only thing left. Courtney's punts generally fell short for he had the wind against him most of the time, but on several occasions he kicked his team out of danger when LaCrosse was threatening to score. Steenis attempted a place kick from the 30-yard line early in the third quarter, but the ball sailed under the crossbar. Each team made first down but twice during the entire game. Gelbke, Bowby and Courtney played a good game for Appleton, while Bunge, Rendler and Graminski starred for the invaders.

FIRST QUARTER

Rendler, LaCrosse fullback, kicked off to Bowby who took the ball on Appleton's 50-yard line and ran to the LaCrosse 45-yard line where he was tackled. Appleton fumbled, but Stammer recovered, losing 15 yards on the play. Stammer failed to gain through the line and Courtney punted out of bounds on the LaCrosse 42-yard line. Appleton's line held for three downs and LaCrosse was forced to punt. Rendler kicking out of bounds on Appleton 25 yard line. Gelbke failed to gain around left end. Stammer failed to gain through the line. Courtney punted to LaCrosse 45-yard line and the receiver was stopped in his tracks. LaCrosse gained 1 yard on three line plays. Rendler punted, the wind carrying the ball to Appleton's 2-yard line where a LaCrosse man dropped on the ball. Courtney punted from behind the Appleton goal line to the LaCrosse 25-yard line. LaCrosse fumbled the kick but recovering the ball. Rendler gained 5 yards around right end. Courtney threw Garbinski for a 5-yard loss. On a fake kick LaCrosse tried a pass which failed, giving the ball to Appleton on her 23-yard line. Gelbke gained 5 yards in three plays and Courtney kicked out of bounds on the LaCrosse 28-yard line. A long pass was intercepted by Bowby on the Appleton 40 yard line.

Wenzel gained 4 yards past tackle. Two line plays failed and Courtney kicked 40 yards against the wind to the LaCrosse 30-yard line. LaCrosse gained 5 yards around left end. On the next play Rendler broke through for 25 yards. Bowby's tackle preventing a touchdown. After a 5-yard gain, LaCrosse fumbled and Courtney recovered as the quarter ended. Score, LaCrosse 0, Appleton 0.

SECOND QUARTER

Stammer lost a yard and Courtney kicked into the wind. Bleier recovering for Appleton on his own 45 yard line. Appleton failed to gain and Courtney's punt was blocked. Gelbke recovering on his 43 yard line. Sole went in for Voeks at tackle. Palmer returned Stammer's punt to the LaCrosse 35-yard line. LaCrosse gained 5 yards around left end. Boehme went in at end for Frazer. A 5 yard penalty gave LaCrosse first down. Boehme stopped a wide end run. Failing to gain, Rendler kicked out of bounds on the Appleton 48 yard line. Wenzel made 2 yards over tackle. Stammer failed to gain and Courtney went through the line for 7 yards. With a yard to go Courtney punted out of bounds on the LaCrosse 30 yard line. End plays failed to gain and Rendler punted to Bowby who returned the ball to the Appleton 45-yard line. Hieble went in at halfback for Stammer and went off tackle for 5 yards on the next play. Wenzel failed to gain and Appleton was penalized 5 yards. Courtney got off a 40-yard punt and Boehme got the tackle on the LaCrosse 20 yard line. LaCrosse made first down on two 5-yard runs. Boehme threw LaCrosse for a 5-yard loss. LaCrosse gained 5 yards as the half ended. Bleier was hurt on the play, but after a few minutes was able to walk off the field.

Score, LaCrosse 0, Appleton 0.

THIRD QUARTER

Bleier kicked off to the LaCrosse 3-yard line and Rendler returned 5 yards. The Appleton line held on the next three plays and LaCrosse was forced to punt. Appleton recovered the ball but was able to return it but a few yards and after several plays failed to gain Stammer completed a pass for ten yards to Gelbke and Wenzel made first down. Stammer lost slightly on an attempted end run and after several passes had been grounded Steenis attempted a place kick from the LaCrosse 30-yard line but sent the ball under the bar. LaCrosse was held without gaining for two downs and then lost on a bad pass when Bleier broke through and tackled the man with the ball. Rendler then punted to the Appleton 48-yard line. Appleton had the best of the quarter which ended with the Orange in possession of the ball on the LaCrosse 35-yard line.

ILLINOIS ADDS TO PRESTIGE BY EASY WIN FROM DEPAUW

Ohio State Has Scored Fewer Points but Has Strong Defensive Record

Chicago—Illinois piled up another big score Saturday against DePauw in an easy workout and today leads the Big Ten eleven in both conference standing and total points scored, with 133 against 30 for their opponents by virtue of one early season landslide. Indiana has the next highest total, although the Hoosiers have failed to score a single point in a Big Ten game. They held their second place total with 100 points against 43 for their opponents, though not playing Saturday.

Ohio State has scored the fewest points this season of any Big Ten team, but have also put up the strongest defense, for their opponents have scored but three points while the Buckeyes were making 20. All of the points scored against Michigan were made by Illinois.

Notre Dame would rank third among the larger middle-west eleven in points scored, with 99 against 7 for their opponents. Notre Dame's two conference comparisons come later in the season against Wisconsin and Northwestern.

The Big Ten eleven with Notre Dame added, rank as follows in points scored, having played four games each, with the exception of Wisconsin, which has played five.

SCHOOL	Score	Opponent	Score
Illinois	133	30
Indiana	100	43
Michigan	97	39
Northwestern	88	18
Iowa	88	5
Purdue	88	20
Wisconsin	66	35

DARTMOUTH WHIPS HARVARD, 6 TO 0

Cambridge, Mass.—Dartmouth tied by Yale a week ago, defeated Harvard Saturday, 6 to 0. It was a victory gained by taking advantage of opportunities presented by the Crimson. Dartmouth thus had scored success in two successive years at the stadium.

Dartmouth's score was made in the second period, a touchdown by Leavitt.

YALE NOSES OUT WIN OVER BROWN

New Haven Conn.—Yale pulled out a last minute victory by 13 to 3 over Brown in their football game Saturday. Cottle of Yale made a 55 yard run for a touchdown in the fourth period and Lindley, a substitute, crossed the Brown line again after a series of rushes. Brown scored by a placement goal in the first period.

WILL PLAY IN SOUTH

Francis Outmet and Jesse Guilford will engage in a number of friendly twosomes at the Florida resorts this coming winter.

frequently in the final quarter and the fans began to call for faster play. Appleton used its aerial game more frequently but failed to gain most of the time. Honors were about even during the early part of the period, but fumbles lost for Appleton several times. A series of end runs and line backs brought Appleton LaCrosse's 25-yard line where Courtney's punt was blocked. Bunge, left tackle on the LaCrosse squad, recovered the p-skin and carried it over the line for a touchdown, and Rendler kicked goal.

Shortly after this a pass, Rendler failed to Watecki, for 15 yards put LaCrosse on Appleton's 15-yard line, where LaCrosse was thrown for a loss and then lost 15 yards more on a fumble pass. Rendler then punted to the Appleton 3 yard line when Courtney's boot kicked the Orange out of danger. Graminski returned the punt to Appleton's 23-yard line and then gained 7 yards on an end run. Hieble intercepted a pass on his own 5-yard line and returned it 5 yards, and after each side had attempted several more passes the last of which Bowby to Bleier, netted Appleton 10 yards, the game ended with the Orange on the ball on its own 33-yard line, and LaCrosse leading, 7 to 0.

The lineups: LaCrosse: L. E. Miller, L. T. Bunge, L. G. Bauch, C. Welch, R. G. North, R. T. Mullen, R. B. Baumann, Q. B. Palmer, L. H. Grabinski, R. H. Watecki, F. B. Rendler (Capt.) Wenzel, F. B. Substitutions: Kelly for Palmer, Palmer for Miller, W. Schmitz for North, Sol for Voeks, Boehme for Frazer, Hieble for Stammer, Reitz for Gelbke.

Officials: Umpire—Fruth referee—Davis; headlineman—Eylar.

Costly Fumble Gives Ripon 7 To 7 Tie With Blue And White Eleven

Lawrence Claims as Title Contender in Little Eight Sink When Reds Upset Dope Bucket

Lawrence's claims as a contender for the conference title were made rather ragged Saturday at the Ripon game when the Blue and White could chalk up against the second-rate Ripon team was a 7 to 7 tie. Incidentally the Reds took some of the sting out of the 7 to 0 defeat they suffered two weeks ago at the hands of St. Norbert college team, whom Mark Catlin's footballers had crushed by a score of 42 to 0.

Saturday's game at Ripon was Lawrence's first on the Little Eight schedule, and the result of that contest certainly did not boost Lawrence's football stock anywhere above par. While the lack of victory cast a damper over the several hundred rooters who accompanied the Lawrence riders, to Ripon the tie was as good as a win, and province began forthwith to paint the town red in a way that made the strains of "There'll Be a Hot Time at Lawrence college band sound like "Home Sweet Home."

The flash, the speed and the cunning of the Iowa-Lawrence game were there, but the punch was gone. One week's recuperation from the supreme effort it had put forth against the Hawkeyes was not sufficient to put the team in shape for the Ripon battle and like Walter Johnson, it couldn't coast off it.

From the very start of the fracas, it was evident to the Riponites they had not a ghost of a chance but their one touchdown, scored practically on a fluke put courage into their hearts, and they fought like wounded tigers at bay. Although Lawrence steadily pushed them back for gain after gain yet invariably when the goal line was almost within reach, the Red line stiffened and held like a stone wall. When Lawrence's backfield needed driving power or the most, it could not deliver. That's why everybody on the field knew that the score would stand at 7 to 7.

The fact that Lawrence had the ball more than three fourths of the time, that almost the entire game was fought in Ripon territory, that Coach Doehle's team made first down only twice, that Lawrence gained enough yardage to win three football games, all this only tends to make the 7 to 7 tie more disreputable.

VICTORY SEEMS ASSURED

At the beginning of the game the Blue and White squad lived up to its reputation and showed the spectators the brand of football they had been accustomed to expect of it. After Dunham booted the place over the goal line and after the squad held the enemy for what looked like a loss, Lawrence grabbed the punt at the 50-yard line and started its triumphant march down the field that ended in Kotal's 15-yard run around left end for the Blue's one and only touchdown. Dunham made it 7 with the extra point on his goal kick.

The style of play that rushed the heavy Ripon line and backfield off their feet looked like a walkaway in a Kotal's fatal fumble later in the period, Biese and Kotal each gained yards and Feind made 20 more. Then Lawrence was given several penalties for being offside. After making another first down, Biese was forced to punt, but a spoiled fake punt and an incomplete pass on the part of Ripon brought the ball back into Lawrence's hands.

Ripon's chance came after another exchange of punts. Eddie Kotal caught the ball on his 30-yard line and started down the field. A moment later it slipped from his hands and Hauser scooped it up on the run. With a clear field ahead of him he kept on going and was not stopped until he was within two yards of the enemy's goal line. Even at this point Lawrence's most sanguine Riponites expected a touchdown, but while Lawrence was trying to reason over what had happened the ball went over on the next play. T. Olson carried it over and his brother kicked goal.

LINEUP IS SHIFTED

Dunham again kicked off over the goal line, and Ripon made a futile attempt to get started. Lawrence pursued its course of straight football with which it had begun. Biese's smashes failed to make any great dents, whereas Boettcher was switched from left end to fullback. Paer taking his place, Kotal replacing Zussman at quarter and Biese playing half.

It was at this point that Kotal made a half dozen yards on Lawrence's first and only completed pass. Then came more attempts of this kind until the fourth period, when Ripon showed its superiority over the Blue at the aerial game. It not only intercepted two, but also completed five of its own.

Heldman going in at left halfback played a brilliant game. Running like a deer and assisted by splendid interference, he frequently scooted around ends for gains of from 10 to 20 yards.

Although Ripon had the ball several times in the second period, it could do nothing with it. Lawrence facing a stubborn foe in the crises, it resorted to place kicks when the goal posts were but 20 or 25 yards hence. Dunham missed the posts twice in the second period. The half ended almost immediately after the second kick. At the opening of the second half it was a different Lawrence than the one that had rushed Ripon off its feet previously. Its speed was slackened. It tried the famous spread plays, but failed to gain much on them. Kotal, however, made probably the longest run of the game after he fumbled a punt, recovered the ball and twisted and squirmed his way through for a 25 yard gain. In the last two quarters Biese frequently carried the ball making substantial gains that often netted the Blue the necessary yardage for its down. Lawrence's aerial attack in the last period was ragged as was also its attempt to intercept passes, plays that would have proved costly against another team. Almost the last play of the game was an intercepted pass by L. Olson on Ripon's 20 yard line.

The teams used the following lineup:

LAURENCE	Ripon
L. J. Boettcher	Christianson
L. T. Stark	Hauser
L. G. Packard	Tursons
C. Hinkle	Rose
R. G. Council	Gauthier
R. T. Dunham	Stamm
R. E. Holmridge	Glennie
Q. B. Zussman	L. Olson
L. H. Feind	T. Olson
R. H. Kotal	Piechta
F. B. Biese	Ure

HEIDERER, CAWLEY ARRIVE HERE FOR TUESDAY BATTLE

Principals Look Good and Are in Fine Condition for Wind-up Contest

Both Jimmy Cawley, Chicago, and Johnny Heiderer, Milwaukee, who meet in the windup of Elmer Johnson's Midwest Athletic association fight and here Tuesday evening at Armory G, arrived in Appleton Saturday. Cawley was accompanied by Leo Fornicari, his manager and looks to be in excellent shape for his battle. Heiderer also is looking fit, and says he plans to fight the Chicago Slasher off his feet. Cawley claims he has worked out with Johnny Dunham and was able to solve his style of fighting, and says Heiderer won't have a lookin, although he knows him to be a good scrapper.

The preliminary boys report they are ready for action and will arrive Tuesday afternoon. They will be surrounded by Dr. J. O'Connor at three o'clock. Mark Catlin will represent the state boxing commission at the weighing in which will be attended to at the same time and "Pare" Frank Crook will do the announcing and Paul Jaeger will be the third man in the ring.

M'Tigue Wins Long Shot At Race Classic

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—Mike M'Tigue, light heavyweight champion, has good reasons never to forget Master Charley, sensational two-year-old, that is burning up the track these days.

Mike did his summer training at White Sulphur Springs, a few miles from here. Together with Jack Britton and Bartley Madden, Mike paid frequent visits to the Saratoga track. Master Charley was entered in the Hopeful Stakes, one of the feature events of the closing week. Nobody had heard much about him. The field was classed. The opening odds showed Master Charley a 50 to 1 shot.

M'Tigue had some inside information. A number of light writers were at Sulphur Springs at the time watching Luis Firpo, train in a hammock for Harry Wells.

"If you newspaper guys want to get rich get a bet down on Master Charley," advised M'Tigue.

A checkup revealed a total of $3.80 among seven sports writers, or just enough to buy another bottle of Tom Luther's ale.

Of course the nag won. And M'Tigue claimed to be down for $400 worth at opening odds. No wonder he didn't do any fighting last summer!

Frankie Ash, British flyweight, has proved a poor substitute for Jimmy Wilde. Ash has been in this country for several months and has lost to some of our worst fighters with great regularity.

Knute's Mascot

ROCKNE AND HIS MASCOT

While Coach Knute Rockne works on the theory that football games are won through merit, not superstition, he has a decided fondness for the Alre-lale shown in the picture. Rockne regards Mascot Terry as an omen of good luck, and wouldn't think of starting a game without having the Alre-lale on the scene of battle.

DIGSKIN PRIMER

What is the meaning of the term cutback? Cutback has reference to the course of the man with the ball making a run who suddenly changes his direction and "cuts back" instead of continuing in the direction he started. If he happened in the open field and the runner continued in the changed direction it would be called "reversing the field." Illegal interference is where offensive players, other than the ball carrier, use their hands or arms except close to their bodies or attempt to block opponents by throwing their arms in the air. Pulling and pushing the man with the ball are also illegal.

KAUKAUNA EASILY COPS 33-0 GAME FROM NEW LONDON

Orange and Black Outclass Home Team from Start to Finish of Tilt

Kaukauna — Fighting hard but hopelessly outclassed the New London high school football team was defeated 33 to 0 in a game against Kaukauna high Saturday afternoon at New London. The home squad previously had won every game and most of them by shutouts. It did not take long after the whistle blew to determine that Kaukauna would win. The Orange and Black received the first kickoff and immediately started a march toward the goal. Showing lots of pep and fight, the boys ploughed through the red and white line like an avalanche and the oval went over the line for the first touchdown within the first five minutes. Kilgas placed a perfect drop kick between the posts for the extra point.

New London had had luck a few minutes later. Kaukauna was tackled off but on the return, New London lost the ball on the 15 yard line when the runner was tackled, and in four more plunges the visitors had another touchdown. A line plunge added a point.

New London tried to gain through the line but was stopped short. Because of its fast backfield, however, the Red and White made good gains on long end runs. During the latter portion of the game New London was forced to try forward passing continually and although they succeeded in completing many of them they gained little in the long run.

In the second half Kilgas, left half, was injured and Captain Dix took his place. Dix immediately proceeded to live up to things by grabbing a New London pass and tearing off a 65 yard run. He was stopped on the third yard line from where Kaukauna went over for another touchdown. Later in the game he shook off his tackles for another 65 yard gain and was forced out of bounds on the 30 yard line.

During the last period the ball saw-sawed back and forth. New London could not gain consistently and the Kaukauna players did not particularly try. In the last quarter Smith totted seven of his second stringers into the fray and the boys showed stuff that gave the Kaukauna spectators high hopes for next year's team.

Notre Dame Wallops Princeton, 12 To 0

Princeton — Notre Dame's great football team again downed a big eastern team, this time Princeton which fell under a vicious attack, 12 to 0. The game was rough and fiercely fought but Notre Dame had the edge most of the way. The fighting Irish with Layden and Crowley leading the way, ran over the Big Three opposition.

Notre Dame started its second string eleven. Slagle kicked off to Notre Dame's three yard line, but Notre Dame recovered a fumble on the first play after the kick out and punted again into Princeton territory. Two fifteen yard penalties against Princeton for roughness helped keep the play in Princeton territory with neither side scoring.

Notre Dame's regulars entered the game at the start of the second period. Stuhldrehr got away for 38 yards, running back a punt to Princeton's 28 yard line, and Layden and Don Miller added a first down, to the Tiger's 16-yard line. Crowley's fumble halted the Notre Dame drive but they came back quickly by a 22 yard forward pass to Princeton's 25 yard line. Crowley twisted through Princeton for 17 yards to a touchdown. Stuhldrehr missed goal. Princeton came back with a successful forward pass but lost 35 yards for slugging. Notre Dame lost 15 yards for roughness.

Notre Dame opened the third period with a 2 yard run by Layden to Princeton's 20 yard line but a 15 yard penalty for holding cost Notre Dame a chance for a touchdown. The Hoosiers scored another touchdown early in the fourth period. Crowley made runs of 13 and 18 yards. Stuhldrehr passed to Crowley and then Crowley shook of three tacklers for a touchdown. Crowley's kick for point was blocked.

KNOX IN EASY WIN OVER BELOIT, 26-0

Galesburg Ill.—Knox defeated Beloit, midwest conference champion last year, 26 to 0 before a home coming crowd of 6,000 here Saturday afternoon.

APPLETON NIMRODS GET BIG BAG AT MARSHFIELD

Five Nimrods of Appleton Saturday journeyed to Marshfield and on their return reported some of the best shooting they have had this season. They bagged 42 squirrels and 27 rabbits on the trip, and according to their story the woods are full of game this season. Charles Hammer, Darnest Plaman, William Wenzel, Burt Bernhart and Andrew Heideman were members of the party.

In the two years of existence of the Cologne-London airplane service, there have been no accidents.

FARM AND FACTORY MUST PROSPER TOGETHER

"The Nervous Wreck"

By E. J. Rath
Copyright 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

But it might be easier to go to Chicago, even if she did not buy a trousseau there. There were Giffitts in the way of an early return to the Bar-M. It would entail expenditures that she did not want to make, not so much on her own account as on that of the Wreck. She felt that it was her own course to follow. But she did not know whether she could clear Henry Williams. Every unlawful thing he had done was on her own account, she knew, and not for all the world would she let him take the consequences single-handed. If they went back to the Bar-M she did not see how she could invest a story that would cover the situation. Certainly, she did not propose to tell the truth. She believed in truth, and she did not like inventions—but there was Henry Williams to be considered. And the welfare of Henry Williams rose above ethical considerations.

"Let's take the road back the way we came," she said. "I don't mean all the way. But we'll try to hit a branch road which will take us to the railway line. I think you spoke about Mr. Underwood saying they drove around by way of Duncan. I've never been to Duncan, but I think it's on the railroad. Why not try it?"

"It's Duncan," said the Wreck. The flivver turned left into the highway and hurried on through the night. It was running beautifully and noisily and the Wreck listened to the beat of the motor with a sense of keen satisfaction. Never had it hit on all four cylinders with more boisterous regularity. The rest had done it good. It was both rhythmic and raucous, which was the way a good flivver ought to be.

"If I make the train," asked Sally, after a long break in the conversation. "What are you going to do?"

"Oh, I'll drift down to the Bar-M." "But how will you explain being away so long?"

"I'll say I took my time. Camped." "But I thought you were just out here to rest your nerves," she mused. "And they're all right again, aren't they?"

He shook his head violently. "Bad as ever," he said. "Pierce." "Henry, that's nonsense. You eat like a horse and you sleep like an old cat. I don't believe there's a thing the matter with your nerves." He demanded, "I'm the person that knows. I can feel 'em if you had my nerves strung through your system you'd be jumping around like a grasshopper. You'd be just what I am—a wreck."

"But you're not a wreck. That's just one of your silly ideas." "You're always arguing." "Oh, you can be disagreeable if you wish," said Sally. "But when you talk about needing a rest for your nerves you make me tired."

"Oh, well, I don't have to rest them at the Bar-M. If that's what you mean."

"I didn't mean that. You know I didn't. You can rest them at the Bar-M from now until doomsday, if you like."

"I'll go somewhere else," he said, stubbornly.

"Don't be silly." That was as near as she would go to telling him exactly what he thought. If he was bound to rest his nerves in Montana, she did not know of any better place than the Bar-M. In fact, she did not know of any place which would serve so well. Even if he became a sort of permanent boarder, she did not see that the family would be inconvenienced. There was plenty of room.

"Oh, I'll bother somebody else for a while," he assured her.

It sounded to Sally as though he regarded his nerves as so many toys, and that if she did not like his toys he would take them to some other place and play. So she laughed.

"We're always getting into some absurd controversy, Henry. And here we are, right in the middle of an episode. By rights, we ought to be serious. Are you sure that you did all the saddle?"

It was a change of subject that lasted them until the conversation again died into monosyllables, and then wholly ceased for miles. The night was cool and Sally buttoned her coat. The Wreck never seemed to get hot or cold; she could not remember that he ever made a comment on the weather, not even on the day he arrived at Dad Morgan's ranch. There was a wary constancy and equanimity about his tone and flesh that often amazed her. Only his nerves gave him the least concern.

"Hungry?" she asked.

"Sure." She unwrapped a package of sandwiches and handed him one. He made three bites of it. He accepted another, then a third, and they vanished in the same fashion.

"Like 'em?" she ventured.

"They're great!"

"Wonderful!" At last, you admit I'm a cook, Henry. I even baked the bread you know."

He gave her a quizzical glance. "That's all his business about cooking, anyhow," he asked.

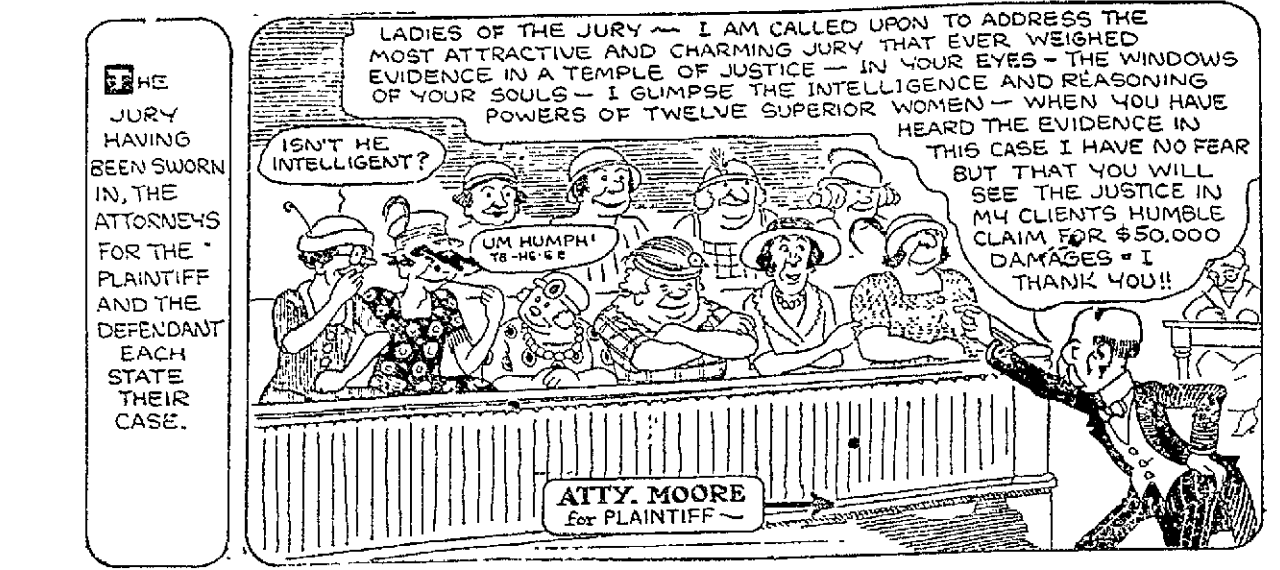

"Never mind. It's something like a joke. I think perhaps I'll tell you some day."

"All right. Can I have another one?"

She was smiling as she gave him the fourth sandwich and watched it disappear.

The flivver was snorting along its motor, and Sally propped herself back in the seat and enjoyed her seat. It was good to feel the car on the open road. She would never have been willing to try cutting across the range, if there was need for it. The Wreck's mood was exhilarated. He laid it to a nervous exaltation from which he would presently react, in all probability, but while it lasted he proposed to make the most of it.

SIGNS IN GAELIC PUZZLE VISITORS

Cork, Ireland — Irish Americans returned to their native land after long absence are much at a loss in figuring out the street names in many of the towns of the Free State. Efforts are being made generally throughout the state to popularize the Gaelic language, and in many cities and towns the street signs are printed in Gaelic.

Bookshops display Gaelic grammars and methods for learning the language, and advertise the exercise books employed in schools which are seeking to make the knowledge of Gaelic general throughout the island.

The struggle is much the same that many of the new states of Europe are making to put their own language above other tongues.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
County of Outagamie,
Office of County Clerk, October 16, 1924.
TO THE ELECTORS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given that a general election to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election precincts in the county of Outagamie, on the 4th day of November, 1924, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the questions submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below:

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

- (a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.
- (b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross (X) or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.
- (c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector for whom he wishes to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the name provided therefor, the name or names of the person or persons for whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice-
- (d) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.
- (e) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.
- (f) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed names and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.
- (g) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter, and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to each person's disability.
- The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

OFFICIAL PRESIDENTIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote for all of the presidential electors of one party, mark a cross (X) or other mark in the (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square after the name of the elector for whom you desire to vote, or write any name that you wish to vote for in the proper place.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH MAY END FENCING IN GERMANY
By Associated Press
Halle, Germany—Fencing matches, which have been popular in many German universities with which there has been a growing dissatisfaction on the part of the public, will probably be discontinued as a result of a fatal accident recently at the University of Halle.
Herbert Hovelor, son of a wealthy manufacturer, bled to death after receiving a stab below the belt.

WINDOW CHARM

Gay-patterned curtains, or draperies glowing with rich colors strike a note of charm in a room which determines its entire atmosphere. Dress your windows in gracious new draperies before throwing wide the doors for holiday affairs. Exclamations of delight in their charm will greet you! We pride ourselves upon the distinctive draperies to be found in our Drapery Department. The newest, most charming patterns in fabrics and the latest styles in made draperies are here, attractively priced. All sorts of clever tie-backs and other curtain accessories are also here.

Gay Cretonnes Make Sun-rooms Merry

They're the gayest cretonne draperies imaginable, some striped in vivid shades; others boasting sprays of flowers in a riot of color. They'll make merry, indeed, in happy sun-rooms. Quaint old-fashioned curtains, flower-sprigged, are delightful for bedrooms. All are made with novel valances, often plaited in French style.

Draperies to Dignify Charming Living Rooms

Style change in draperies as in everything else. And Fashion's newest fancy, an unusually attractive one, is draperies of striped taffeta. Choose them striped in old blues, clear greens, or rich mulberry on a creme ground, whichever is the predominating color of your room—they'll add dignity and smartness to it.
